REPORT

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Children's Hospital, founded in 1869, began its work very modestly, with but few beds, in a hired house, with a small medical and surgical staff and without an out-patient department.

The purposes of its incorporation were, first, the medical and surgical treatment of diseases of children; second, the attainment and diffusion of knowledge regarding the diseases incident to childhood; third, a system of voluntary nursing, including moral and religious training, by cultivated and experienced Christian women; fourth, the training of young women in the duties of nursing.

In addition, the founders proposed that The Children's Hospital, however small it might be or however large it might become, should, in addition to caring for the physical needs of its little patients, surround them always with an atmosphere of kindness and good cheer.

In 1870 the Hospital was moved to a larger house; in 1880 the plans for the present location on Huntington Avenue were first considered, and one wing of the building was constructed and occupied in 1882.

It is with the history of The Children's Hospital since the latter date that this report is especially concerned, for the work of the Hospital, amply accommodated by the completed building nearly eighteen years ago, has not only extended widely, through its departments of out-patient service and out-door relief, but has outgrown the capacity of the Hospital itself, so that, notwithstanding the great advance in the surgical treatment of children's diseases and the consequent more rapid recovery and correspondingly shorter stay of patients in the wards, there is always a pathetically appealing waiting list of little children who, however they may personally regard their admission to the Hospital beforehand, come to find their stay there a pleasure rather than a pain.

Within the period mentioned The Children's Hospital has come to be known and regarded, both in this country and abroad, for certain characteristics; namely, the excellence and economy of its management, the general air of cheerfulness and well-being in its wards, and the original and elucidative work done by its medical and surgical staff; so justly deserved is this opinion that it may be safely said that the work of The Children's Hospital is not only praiseworthy, but in some respects remarkable, and better in character and more economical in pecuniary outlay than that of any institution of its kind in this country.

It may not be generally known that The Children's Hospital, in addition to receiving children into its wards, has at its disposal a Convalescent Home of fifty beds at Wellesley Hills, supports an Out-Patient Department in the Huntington Avenue building for the relief of children who are well enough to be brought to the Hospital but do not need to be admitted to its wards, and a system of house visitation to children who cannot leave their homes; and that, in addition, the pupils in the School for Crippled Children are under the care of the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital.

With this extension of work beyond its walls it is possible to follow chronic cases, — hip disease, for instance, — from the time of operative treatment in the Hospital, through the Convalescent Home, the Out-Patient Department, the distant nursing service, and the "Cripples' School," until the best results have been attained, under a continuous management and attention.

During the first fifteen years of its existence, while quartered in a hired house, the average number of children in the Hospital at any one time was 18, and the average annual expense was seven thousand five hundred dollars, making the daily cost per patient one dollar and fourteen cents.

During 1883, when one wing of the present building on Huntington Avenue was occupied, the average daily number of patients was 37, and the total expenses for the year amounted to sixteen thousand five hundred dollars, or a daily cost per patient of one dollar and twenty-two cents.

In 1892, the year after the whole of the present building was opened, the daily average of patients in the wards was 64, the total cost was twenty-three thousand three hundred dollars, and the daily cost per patient one dollar.

During 1899 the daily average in the wards has been 83, the total cost thirty-two thousand nine hundred dollars, and the daily cost per patient one dollar and eight cents.

These last figures include the cost of insurance and repairs—many of the latter being in fact permanent improvements—together with the expenses of out-door relief,—which did not exist in 1892,—and of the Out-Patient Department, which received during 1899 sixteen thousand and forty-four visits as against one thousand nine hundred and forty-nine in 1892.

Improved methods of treatment, of which this Hospital has been a worthy, and in many ways a leading exponent, have enabled the Managers largely to augment the number of children admitted annually without proportionately increasing the expense.

In 1874 the admissions for the year were but 133 in number, at a total expense of seven thousand five hundred dollars; as late as 1892 they were only 583, at a total outlay of twenty-three thousand three hundred dollars, while in 1899 there were 1,217 patients admitted, at a total cost of thirty-two thousand nine hundred dollars; the expense per patient treated having fallen from fifty-six dollars in 1874 to twenty-seven dollars during the past year.

With all this to its credit the Hospital finds itself in a position in which it must decrease, instead of increasing, its usefulness, unless considerable additions are made to its funds; for not only are certain enlargements and improvements in the present building absolutely necessary, but an increase in its income is needed to make up the annually occurring deficit of the past few years, due in part to the decrease in rates of interest and in part to yearly increase in hospital work.

For the year 1897 the deficit was in round numbers twelve thousand dollars; in 1898, nine thousand dollars; and in the year 1899, nine thousand five hundred dollars.

To continue the work adequately it is now necessary to build improved operating and sterilizing rooms, to enlarge the kitchen and laundry, to provide a sun-room and a room in which parents may see patients without being admitted to the wards, thus avoiding one of the possibilities of the introduction of contagious diseases into the Hospital.

Plans covering these improvements, and also the rooms necessary for administrative purposes, have been prepared, under the careful supervision of the Managers and Medical Staff, and now await only the generosity of the public for their practical perfection.

In concluding its report the Board of Managers tenders its sincere thanks to the members of the Medical Staff for the skill and zeal with which they have served, to the Sisters of St. Margaret for the devoted care which contributes so much to the success of the Hospital and the happiness of its little inmates, and to the Managers of the Convalescent Home which every day becomes more essential to the fulfilment of the treatment begun in the Hospital wards.

Respectfully presented for the Board of Managers,

FRANCIS H. BROWN,

Secretary.

LIFE-MEMBERS.

Extract from the By-Laws. — The Corporation shall be composed of the persons named in the Act of Incorporation; of all persons who have been or may be Managers; of such persons as shall give to the Hospital, at any one time, the value of one hundred dollars and upwards; of annual subscribers to the amount of, at the least, five dollars, so long as they shall pay that sum to the Corporation.

Vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars, shall have the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

H. L. BURRELL,

For the Medical Staff.

BOSTON, December 28, 1899.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME
OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of The Convalescent Home of the Children's Hospital, formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the fifteenth year since the incorporation of their institution.

The managers provide for both the Hospital and the Home, all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, and many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons, and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. In this work there is a constant increase, and this year's list of clothing numbers 6,000 articles, — 2,400 more than last year, and 3,500 more than the list of two years ago. The cutting out of this immense amount of work is done weekly by the managers, and by several young ladies who kindly give their services every week.

When the present Home was opened in 1892, there were twenty-eight patients. There are now fifty permanent beds, and several emergency cots, bringing proportionate increase in work and expense. The cost of clothing, food, lighting, and heating has increased very much during the past year.

The number of children treated was 388, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average is 52. The largest number any one day was 58, and the smallest number 18. The total number of hospital days was 18,264. There have been so many inquiries made in regard to this last expression that it is well to state that it is equivalent to 18,264 children treated for one day or one child for 18,264 days.

From March 28th to April 20th no children were admitted because of an epidemic of measles. Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley has been most kind in responding to all calls, especially so in looking after the cases of measles.

The children are sent from the Hospital on Huntington Avenue much oftener than formerly, for experience has shown that improvement in cases, after their removal, especially in typhoid fever, is so marvellous that they are sent out as soon as it is possible to do so.

The beginning of the work of the Convalescent Home was in a little house at Weston in 1874, with accommodation for 6 children, a woman in charge and one nurse, and 19 children received treatment in July and August. In 1875 a permanent Convalescent Home was founded, a house in Wellesley was hired and occupied for two years, when by the generosity of friends an estate in the same town was bought and occupied until 1890. At that time it became necessary to make plans for the future, as the Home was insufficient for its needs. It was decided to buy for eight thousand dollars an estate of thirty-three acres, in Wellesley Hills, which would allow proper space for a large building with ample grounds. This land, after approval by the State Board of Health, became a gift to the corporation from H. H. Hunnewell, Esq.

Plans were drawn for a new and permanent building by Messrs. Shaw & Hunnewell, the cost of which was to be forty-eight thousand dollars. The friends of the Hospital, and the public generally, were asked for aid, and the response was so liberal that in 1892 the building was opened and dedicated.

From then until now the work has been constantly progressing. In the year 1892 only 109 patients were admitted, and as previously stated, the admissions for the year just closing have been 388.

The managers feel justified in calling attention to the thorough economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child is 55 $\frac{5}{8}$ cents. From close personal supervision they know that the children have abundant and wholesome food and proper care.

The managers are very grateful to all who help in subscriptions and donations. Several very generous subscribers have died during the year, and more annual subscribers are therefore very much desired.

The Sisters of Saint Margaret are unfailing in their care of both Hospital and Home, and the managers, realizing the great benefit of their skilful and devoted service, offer their grateful appreciation.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A. M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than four dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Wednesday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Children's Hospital in the city of Boston has now been in existence thirty-one years; it has been well and generously supported and has merited this support by the character of the work done within its walls and the wisdom and economy of its management.

In addition to its wards and single rooms for the reception of patients it maintains an out-patient department in which children are received for daily treatment and its public service has recently been further increased by the establishment of a department of out-door relief or house visiting.

The Training School of the Hospital is well known for its excellence, the young women admitted to it are carefully selected as to their qualifications and are given a comfortable home in which they are taught housekeeping, cooking, and diet kitchen work in addition to the training which they receive in the Hospital.

Up to the beginning of the past ten years the income of the Hospital either equalled or exceeded the necessary expenses. Since the year 1892, however, there has been an annually recurring deficit, which has had to be met from the invested or investable funds, the capital of the Hospital.

This deficit may be accounted for in part by the marked decrease in income from investments during the past ten years, and it may be suggested that the expenses of carrying on the Hospital have been unduly increased during that period.

On examination, however, it is found that the cost per patient is really less than it was ten years ago, but that the Hospital has, in the time stated, very nearly trebled its inestimably helpful work at an increase of but seventy-five per cent in its running expenses.

In 1890 the number of patients treated in the wards was 442, and in 1900 it was 1,394. In 1890 the new cases in the out-patient department were 1,712, and in 1900 2,586. In 1890 the visits to the out-patient department were 7,291, and in 1900 21,436, while of visits for out-door relief there were none in 1890, but in 1900 the value of this extension of the Hospital service having been fully proved, there were 1,828 house visits made by members of the Hospital staff and nurses.

In 1889 the Convalescent Home at Wellesley cared for 104 patients and in 1900 for 440 patients, who by means of this valuable and important adjunct to the work of the Hospital were afforded the opportunity for recuperation which they could not have had if returned immediately to their homes to make room for the more urgent cases of which the Hospital has always a pathetically long waiting list.

That this Hospital has been able so considerably to enlarge its usefulness with the same plant that it had ten years ago is due, in part, to the advance in medical science, in part to the manner in which the various departments of the Hospital have been made to supplement each other, and very largely to the increasing value of the Training School for Nurses, and to the increase in the number of nurses in the school.

In 1890 the number of nurses in the Hospital was only 10, while in 1900 the average number has been 35. To this increase in the number of nurses is largely due the fact that the average length of stay of patients in the hospital has greatly decreased during the past ten years, thus diminishing the cost per patient considerably and permitting the Hospital to care for the increased number demanding attention without an addition to the number of beds. While the managers are proud of the increase in the amount of good which the Hospital is now able to accomplish, and while they are most anxious to meet the constantly increasing demands upon it, they must point out to the public that unless further financial assistance is given it will be impossible to broaden the work now done and very difficult to carry it on upon the present scale. Within the last few years many of the founders and annual benefactors of the Hospital have died, and there is urgent need that others should come forward to take their places. Each person who contributes $100 yearly to the funds of the Hospital thereby enables the managers to admit three suffering children to the beds of the Hospital. Are there not many who are willing to do such good work?

To the untiring devotion of the medical staff and the sisters of St. Margaret is due the success which the Hospital has achieved, and of this the managers wish to express their appreciation.

Respectfully presented for the Board of Managers,

FRANCIS H. BROWN,

Secretary.

LIFE-MEMBERS.

Extract from the By-Laws. — The Corporation shall be composed of the persons named in the Act of Incorporation; of all persons who have been or may be Managers; of such persons as shall give to the Hospital, at any one time, the value of one hundred dollars and upwards; of annual subscribers to the amount of, at the least, five dollars, so long as they shall pay that sum to the Corporation.

Vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars; shall have the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Report of the tenth year of the School is herewith submitted.

It is the wish of the Faculty to give a complete course in the principles and practice of nursing, so that our graduates may be thoroughly fitted to meet every demand of the community. To attain this end, each one of the instructors has striven to make his or her own branch perfect, so far as it is possible to do so. Certain essential points in the organization have, especially during the past year, been proved to be entirely satisfactory: namely, the careful selection by inspection and examination of candidates for the school; the three years' course; the systematic curriculum of practical work, with lectures, demonstrations, recitations, and stated examinations; and the non-pay system. The course of instruction has been most thorough, and the Faculty are sure that no one passes the Examining Board without proving herself worthy of confidence.

The first formal graduating exercises were held in the Hospital in April, when eleven nurses received their diplomas. There are at present —

Superintendent of Nurses	1
Graduate Head Nurses	4
Pupils	32

In August the third house on Gainsboro' Street was secured, making three adjoining houses, which constitute the Home for Nurses, with accommodation for all the working staff. The acquisition of the third house has provided the nurses with comfortable dining-rooms, and enabled the management to put into effect plans for practical instruction in cooking and housekeeping. This course is given to two nurses, for two months each, who, under the direction of a graduate of the Boston Cooking School, in turn do the marketing, housekeeping, and cooking for the Training School.

The arrangement for the extra-mural work at St. Margaret's Infirmary and the Infants' Hospital has been discontinued, and terminates with the present senior class.

The plan for an interchange of nurses with the Massachusetts General Hospital has been completed, and will go into effect July 1, 1901.

The Alumnæ Association, which was formed this last summer, has on its roll twenty-four charter members.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital, formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the sixteenth year since the incorporation of their institution.

The managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, and many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. In this work there is a constant increase, and this year's list of clothing calls for 6,924 articles, — last year, 6,000 articles.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 446, — last year 388, — and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average is 50. The largest number any one day was 58, and the smallest 38. This small number was on account of measles during February, when no new children were admitted.

The present Home was built on land given by H. H. Hunnewell, Esq., and opened in 1892 with 28 beds, and in that and the following year 120 children were treated. Now the Home has 50 permanent beds and several emergency cots, bringing proportionate increase of work and expense.

In 1894, to meet the earnest desire of the staff of the Hospital, the managers consented to try the experiment of keeping the Home open through the winter. This proved of so great benefit to the children and of such value to the Hospital that it has never since been closed. The children are sent from the Hospital to the Home by the physicians or surgeons of the Hospital, and after arriving there are nominally on the service of one of the "out-patient" surgeons, who visits the Home once a month. The senior house surgeon goes out each week from the Hospital, inspects all surgical dressings, changes plaster jackets, recommends patients for discharge, and writes notes on cases, which are forwarded to the Hospital when the child goes home and are bound and kept with the Hospital records. Two graduate nurses, with one third-year pupil from the Hospital, have the immediate care of the children, assisted by five or six nursemaids, who find the experience of one year or two with the children very valuable. The average length of stay for the children is six weeks, though there is no limit of time. In some instances we have kept the children for as long as two years. These have been exceptional cases, requiring the daily dressing of abscesses and where conditions in their own homes were especially unfavorable. At the end of that time they have been sent home in good condition, and it is interesting to know that cases of tubercular joint diseases may recover if well cared for, and kept for a sufficiently long time under good hygienic conditions.

As the Children's Hospital has only 100 beds, and there is commonly a waiting list of over 50 surgical cases, only acute cases or those needing operation are able to be admitted, and these cases are kept for as short a time as possible, sending them to Wellesley to convalesce. Many cases which a few years ago would have remained in the hospital from four to six weeks, are now sent to the Convalescent Home on the third or fourth day after operation. The Convalescent Home might well be called the country branch of the Children's Hospital. The Home also relieves the Hospital of chronic cases too ill to be sent home, and which would otherwise occupy a hospital bed for months, and also gives these improperly fed and tubercular children what they most need — sunlight and fresh air, and with these they develop a good appetite for wholesome food. The improvement in most cases is very marked, especially in the typhoids and empyemas. The children seem to grow and develop in the happy out-of-door life. Those who are not able to walk roll about the piazza on their little wheel carts, which can be made to extend, and the children with splints and crutches run all over the fields, or drive about in their donkey-cart, which is supposed to be the property of the boys and girls on alternate days.

They are allowed to go as far as the donkey will take them — drives apt to be of unequal length! In the winter there are few days when the children cannot be out in the sun on the south piazza for at least a couple of hours, and those who are the happy possessors of two legs are bundled up and sent out to play. Through the winter they have lessons or kindergarten games for two hours in the afternoon. The little children are in bed and asleep at 6 P.M., but the older ones have games or stories around the fire and sit up until eight o'clock.

At the request of the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital the managers are now fitting up a larger room for surgical dressings, with modern sinks, aseptic table, etc., which will enable the surgeons to send to the Home any children requiring clean dressings. The cost of this room was met by a few kind friends to whom Mrs. Peabody made application.

The managers feel justified in calling attention to the thorough economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child during the year was $59\frac{1}{4}$ cents. This includes all repairs and improvements, drainage, stable account, care of grounds, and fire-escape ordered by the State inspector. From close personal supervision they know that the children have abundant and wholesome food and proper care.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has done many a kind service at the Home, and the managers feel very grateful to him.

The Sisters of St. Margaret, who have the charge of Hospital and Home, are unfailing in their care of both; and the managers, realizing the great benefit of their skilful and devoted service, offer their grateful appreciation.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Wednesday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

IN presenting their annual report the Managers of The Children's Hospital again have the opportunity of thanking the medical staff and the Sisters of St. Margaret for their devotion to its patients. Through their exertions the Hospital has continued to maintain its place as one of the best institutions of its kind.

During the past year the number of patients treated in the wards was 1,353, the visits to the out-patient department were 22,375, and the visits of the staff and nurses for outdoor relief were 1,664.

We desire to thank those who have contributed to our funds during the past year, and we wish especially to thank Mr. H. Hollis Hunnewell for his most generous gift of fifty thousand dollars, which has been thoroughly appreciated.

We also desire to thank Mrs. Clement-Waters for the gift of sun-balconies which she has caused to be erected in memory of her daughter. These, although but recently finished, have been of great service already, enabling us to furnish a healthy resort for such of the children as are able to be up and to use them, and also thereby making the wards quieter for such of the patients as are confined to their beds.

During the year we have received legacies from the estates of Charles L. Young, David W. Hitchcock, and Henry Saltonstall.

We are still struggling with the financial question. The surgical cases are so many and the number of patients has increased so much that the operating rooms and the administration department of the Hospital need immediate improvement and enlargement. Plans were drawn over a year ago for making considerable alterations, but the estimated cost was found to be so much in excess of what we felt we could afford to spend, that the work has been postponed. During the coming season some improvements must be made, and we again earnestly request all persons who are interested in relieving the sufferings of small children to aid us. Our annual income still continues insufficient to meet our expenses, and to make good the deficit we need numerous annual subscriptions, in addition to what we require for permanent improvements to our buildings.

The deficit during the past year was, in round figures, $13,000.

The nurses are now established in houses on Gainsborough Street, and the arrangement has proved a decided success. In supplementing the excellent character of the instruction given in the training school, by providing the nurses with comfortable quarters in which to eat and sleep and to accommodate them when off duty, we have made our Hospital so attractive to young women desiring to obtain education as nurses, that we get the best that are to be had, and the children in the wards reap the immediate benefit.

We have lost during the year the President of the Board, Mr. Charles L. Young, who became a member in 1883, and was made President in 1896. He was greatly interested in our work, most constant in his attendance at our meetings, thoughtful and helpful in his suggestions, and we sincerely regret his loss.

Respectfully presented for the Board of Managers,

HENRY WHEELER.

LIFE-MEMBERS.

Extract from the By-Laws. — The Corporation shall be composed of the persons named in the Act of Incorporation; of all persons who have been or may be Managers; of such persons as shall give to the Hospital, at any one time, the value of one hundred dollars and upwards; of annual subscribers to the amount of, at the least, five dollars, so long as they shall pay that sum to the Corporation.

Vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars, shall have the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Faculty of the Training School for Nurses herewith submit the Report of the eleventh year of the school.

It has been the desire of the Faculty to give to the pupils of the Training School a practical working experience, as well as a thorough instruction in the essential branches, and to broaden the field of opportunity of practical work during the time of their service in the school. To attain this the instructors have made the courses of study to consist of demonstrations, and have illustrated the exercises by means of clinical material as far as possible. The opportunities of experience in various departments have been offered by the work in the Babies' Ward, and the Out-Door Relief in addition to the other and regular work in the wards.

The interchange of nurses between the Massachusetts General Hospital has been in operation since July 1, by which all pupils in their second year have had the benefit of four months' experience in a large hospital devoted to the care of adults. The instruction in massage in the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics has been continued. A course of practical instruction in cooking, house-keeping, and marketing, under the direction of a graduate of the Boston Cooking School, constitutes an important feature of the regular curriculum.

The course extends over a period of three years under the non-pay system, eight hours daily work. The three houses on Gainsborough Street provide most comfortable and attractive quarters.

Six pupils have received diplomas during the past year. The present staff of the school consists of the superintendent, an assistant superintendent, a night superintendent, three head nurses, and a cooking instructor.

Pupils, Third year	13
„ Second year	7
„ First year	10
Total	30

During the year Miss Baugh resigned her position as superintendent to take a position in a hospital in the West, and Sister Susanna was appointed to fill the vacancy.

It is the wish of the Faculty to express the appreciation of the efforts of Miss Baugh in filling the difficult position of first superintendent of the school during the two years of her service.

The Alumnæ Association has had a prosperous first year of existence; twelve members have been added, making a total membership of thirty-four. Monthly lectures are given by the friends of the school, which have been not only instructive, but have also formed a means of promoting the social ties between its members.

SISTER SUSANNA,
Secretary.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME
OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

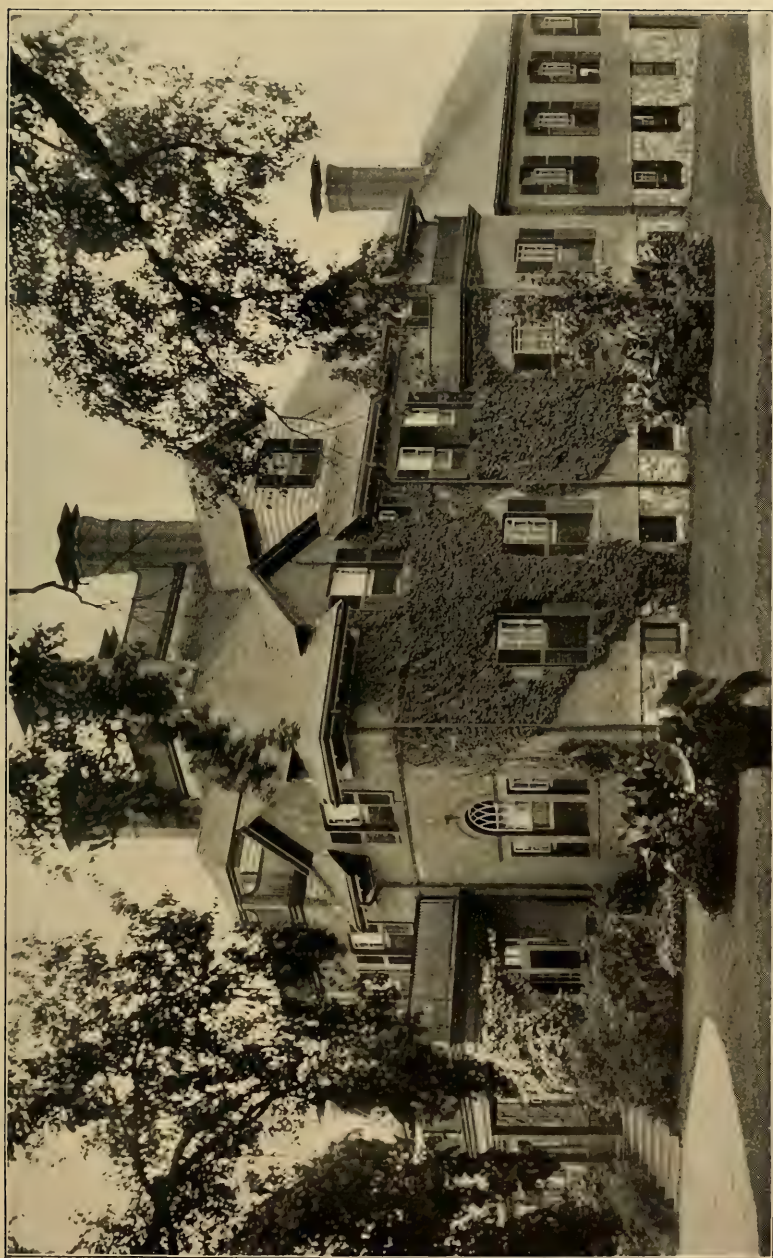

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital, calling themselves formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the seventeenth year since their institution was incorporated under its present name.

As in the past the managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. Every year there is an increase, and this year's list of clothing calls for 7,000 articles. This work is prepared weekly by the managers, who are assisted by the "volunteer aid," and is given out to be made at the annual meeting in February to subscribers and friends.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 405, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average was 49. The largest number any one day was 56, and the smallest 28. This small number was for three weeks in June, when there were no admissions on account of measles. The total number of Hospital days was 17,912.

Since 1894 the Home has never been closed, for in that year the managers consented to try the experiment of keeping it open through the winter.

At The Children's Hospital there are only 100 beds, and there is usually a waiting list of more than 50 surgical cases. Only acute cases or those needing operation are able to be admitted, and these cases are kept for as short a time as possible, then sending them to Wellesley to convalesce. A few years ago many cases remained in the Hospital from four to six weeks, but they are now sent to the Convalescent Home on the third or fourth day after operation. At the request of the medical and surgical staff of the Hospital the managers during the spring of 1901 fitted and furnished a large room for surgical dressings (with modern sinks, aseptic table, etc.), which now enable the surgeons to send to the Home children requiring the most critical or scientific care.

The managers call attention to the economy practised in every department of the Home, as the cost per day for each child during the year was 62½ cents. This estimate would usually include all repairs and improvements, drainage, stable account, and care of grounds. This year, however, the repairs and improvements are not included, as for the first time since its opening the Home was extensively renovated and repaired, additions made, etc., and at no time has the building ever been so perfect in its appliances and arrangements as now.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has, as usual, been very kind in service at the Home, and the managers feel very grateful to him.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have charge, as always, of Hospital and Home, and are unfailing in their care. The managers fully realize their devoted service and offer them their heartiest appreciation.

In closing this report it is necessary to impress on the public the increase in the expenses with the increase in the work. It is a source of untold satisfaction to the managers to realize the greater usefulness of the Home, but it is at the same time a source of anxiety to them to provide means to carry on the work, and they make a most earnest plea for an adequate response to the simple statement of their need of money.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Wednesday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

IN presenting their report for the past year the Managers of The Children's Hospital feel that a review of the conditions existing to-day as compared with those of thirty-four years ago is of distinct value.

The Children's Hospital has in its short existence lived through many advances in medical and surgical treatment. In its early days, it was in fact merely a nursery for sick children, for the simple reason that the ailments for which children were brought to the Hospital were at the time practically incurable. Hip disease, caries of the spine, deformities of infantile paralysis, the contractions of spastic paralysis, bow legs, knock knee and other deformities of rickets, osteomyelitis and deformities following diseases of the bone, club foot and other deformities of the feet, wry neck and congenital dislocation of the hip were either regarded as incurable or only treated thoroughly with such difficulty as to be beyond the means of any except the extremely wealthy. These diseases are not only treated successfully now at the Hospital, but can be well cared for outside of the Hospital by those trained or taught at the Hospital, so that these affections are regarded no longer as the irremediable afflictions of childhood.

In all of these advances mentioned The Children's Hospital has been foremost, either well in front as a close follower of what has been learned elsewhere, or as a pioneer and teacher of others. In addition to this, the important matter of the scientific feeding of children, and the prevention and cure of diphtheria have been more thoroughly carried out at The Children's Hospital than generally elsewhere.

The Hospital was the first in the country to establish in its Wellesley Convalescent Home a country branch, giving to the sick children the best of therapeutic agencies, fresh air.

The Hospital has educated and trained a large group of skilled practitioners who are widely scattered and at present are alleviating the sufferings of childhood in different parts of the country. It is doubtful if any Hospital of its size has in the same space of time accomplished so much that is beneficial. Its reputation has spread far beyond the limits of the city in which it is placed.

To have made curable a dozen crippling diseases of childhood would have been a worthy achievement in a century of work. The Children's Hospital has accomplished this for Boston in thirty years. Its successful work has justified the efforts of those who founded the Hospital and those who have sustained it. It warrants an appeal for a generous support in the future.

During the past year the number of patients treated in the wards was 1,519, the visits to the out-patient department were 24,529, the visits for the out-door relief were 2,069, and the number of surgical operations was 834.

During the month of December Dr. Adolf Lorenz, of Vienna, visited Boston and the Hospital at the invitation of the surgical staff, and performed several operations for the reduction of congenital dislocation of the hip in the presence of a large number of surgeons gathered from all parts of New England.

Dr. Lorenz's visit will, it is believed, result in increased public interest in the surgical treatment of many of the children's ailments above mentioned, and he paid high compliments to the ability of the surgical staff.

His visit, however, made more clear than ever before the inadequacy of the Hospital's present accommodations for the work which each year presses upon it in greater quantity.

As we have stated in previous reports, the present building is far from being what it should be, and after much thought and the review of many plans the board has decided that it is impossible to remodel it in such manner as will make it satisfactory for the present, even without regard to the needs of the future.

The remedy is clearly a new building, to be erected on less expensive land and in a part of the city where the air is purer and the noise and jar less. We have recently been given an opportunity to secure three acres of the land bought by Harvard University for the use of the Medical School, and the board has decided upon its purchase.

We are thus in possession, at relatively small cost, of a site where good light, air, and quiet are secured for all time, and we are, moreover, enabled to continue the record as a teacher of others, spoken of on a previous page; for, in order that the Medical School may attract the best physicians and surgeons in the country, it should have not only the fine plant recently secured to it by generous endowment, but it should also be enabled to give to such men the privilege of holding clinics in adjacent Hospitals.

As one of the several Hospitals planned to be built about the new school, The Children's Hospital will secure great benefit from its association with what is intended to be the best-equipped medical and surgical institution in the country, and will at the same time do its share in bringing about this result.

In order to build a Hospital, fitted to the modern requirements and the needs of a rapidly increasing community, we must have a large addition to our funds, and we confidently ask the charitable public to help us, not only in the erection of a new building, but also in raising the income necessary to overcome our constantly recurring deficit; that of the past year amounted to $12,677.39.

No call should meet, we think, with more ready response than that for aid to relieve the suffering of little children, and the history of the Hospital has been such that we say with confidence that no more deserving charity exists.

Since our last report, we have received legacies from the estates of Richard J. Barry, Edward I. Browne, Mary A. Hale Curtis, Joseph B. Glover, and Emily A. Banchor, which are gratefully acknowledged.

During the year we have met with a severe loss in the death of our constant friend and benefactor, Mr. H. H. Hunnewell. Mr. Hunnewell was for many years a member of the Board of Managers of the Hospital, and its success is largely due to his counsel, his interest, and his continued generosity.

In conclusion, the Managers express their hearty thanks to the Sisters of St. Margaret, and to the staff of the Hospital for their untiring devotion to the children under their care.

For the Board of Managers,

GORDON ABBOTT.

MEMORIAL BEDS.

By a vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars, has the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

Memorial beds having the following names have been established :

SULLIVAN AMORY.
DOROTHY QUINCY.
GEORGE F. KIMBALL.
LOUISE JULIA TUCKER.
JESSIE PRESTON DRAPER.
SARAH ELIZA THACHER.
LIVINGSTON WADSWORTH.
RACHEL TOWER TARBELL.
STEPHEN WHEATLAND.
RUTH E. MARTIN.
FLORENCE DEAN CURTIS.
ABIGAIL P. BANCHOR.
MARY ELLEN PUTNAM.

In addition, the sun rooms which were put up in the year 1901 bear on bronze tablets the name of HOPE CLEMENT, and a memorial window in the girls' Surgical Ward, established in 1886, that of SARAH KITTREDGE GOODNOW.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Faculty of the Training School for Nurses herewith submit the report of the twelfth year of the school.

The three-year period of training continues, and no changes have been made in the curriculum during the year. In addition to the regular training in the nursing of children, the first-year pupils receive a special course in cooking, marketing, etc., and the nurses of the second year are instructed in the special features of infant nursing and preparation of food in the Babies' Ward.

The Faculty wish to express their thanks to the managers of the Massachusetts General Hospital for the courtesy which has made it possible to provide at that Hospital for the usual four months' training of the senior class, especially devoted to general adult nursing.

The massage course has been given at the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics as in previous years.

The visits made by the nurses on the Out-Door Relief duty have amounted to over two thousand during the year.

The Nurses' Home on Gainsboro Street continues to provide most comfortable and homelike accommodations for the nurses.

Thirteen pupils received diplomas at the Graduating exercises in April. This is the largest graduating class in the Training School history.

The Superintendent has received during the year several requests from other Hospitals for graduates of the school to fill responsible Hospital positions. We have been able to comply with very few of these requests, owing to the fact that a large majority of our graduates prefer to enter the field of private nursing, — a line of work in which the many departments of the course, with the careful class and individual instruction and training, peculiarly fit them to successfully engage.

The staff of the school has been the same as the previous year, consisting of the superintendent, assistant superintendent, night superintendent, three graduate head nurses, and a cooking instructor.

There are at present in the Training School thirty pupils, classed as follows : —

Pupils, Third year	5
„ Second year	7
„ First year	10
„ Juniors and Probationers	8
Total	<hr/> 30

Several graduate nurses have been engaged at different times during the year on special duty in the private ward.

The Alumnæ Association has continued its monthly lectures on subjects of interest to, or connected with, the nursing profession.

Several new members have been added to the Association from the graduating class of last year.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital, calling themselves formerly the Ladies' Aid Association, present to their friends a report of their work during the past year, which is the eighteenth year since their institution was incorporated under its present name.

As in the past, the managers provide for both the Hospital and the Convalescent Home all the clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, many surgical appliances, dresses, aprons and caps for nurses, jackets and aprons for surgeons. Every year this increases, and this year's list of clothing calls for upwards of 6,000 articles. This work is prepared weekly by the managers of the Home, who are helped by the "volunteer aid," and is given out to be made at the annual meeting in February to subscribers and friends.

The number of children treated at Wellesley Hills during the year was 422, and there are now 52 in the Home. The daily average was 46. The largest number any one day was 59, and the smallest 25. The total number of Hospital days was 16,843.

The total number treated during the year is 17 more than in 1901. While the daily average is smaller, this is to be accounted for by the fact that fewer patients have remained in the Home for a long period of time — also, owing to the presence of measles through the summer months, the wards were kept comparatively light, though admissions did not stop. The new isolated ward has already proved of value, and on account of the opening of this ward, one more nurse-maid has been added to the staff.

Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, has, as heretofore, been most kind in responding to all calls upon his time and services, especially in cases of sudden illness and in the appearance of any contagious disease.

One of the surgeons of the Out-Patient staff visits the Home each month, and a volunteer assistant and a house surgeon go out every Friday afternoon to look over all dressings and apparatus, and recommend children for discharge to their own homes, or for transfer to the Hospital, when they think the case needs further hospital treatment.

Since 1894 the Home has never been closed, for in that year, at the urgent request of the hospital staff, the managers consented to try the plan of keeping it open through the winter. This plan, though it has proved most successful so far as the benefit to the patients is concerned, has, of course, doubled the expense of keeping up the institution, and there is a deficit of about three thousand dollars in the income of this last year.

The managers, therefore, make an earnest appeal for a continuance of the annual subscriptions and donations, and the Treasurer will gratefully acknowledge any sum, no matter how small, to aid in carrying on this work.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have charge of both Hospital and Home, and have given the most devoted care and service. The managers fully realize their indebtedness to them and hereby offer them the most thorough appreciation.

EVELYN O. WESTON,

Secretary.

DECEMBER, 1902.

Immediately after the Annual Meeting on Monday, January 5, 1903, the Secretary, Mrs. Henry C. Weston, sent in her resignation, which was most reluctantly accepted, and Mrs. Henry S. Hunnewell was elected to fill her place.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,

Secretary.

Since the foregoing report was written a great misfortune has occurred. On the twentieth of January a fire broke out in the Convalescent Home, which, with the exception of a part of one ward, entirely destroyed the building. Fortunately, it happened in the daytime. It was first discovered at about nine o'clock in the morning, in the top of the main building. Owing to the unusually fine construction of the building it burned slowly, so that all the children, forty-eight in number, ranging in ages from fourteen months to fourteen years, were taken out in safety, carried temporarily to the house on the place belonging to the Home, and later sent in by special car to the Hospital in Boston. The coolness and calmness of the nurses and all the employees of the Home were wonderful, and are owing to the wise care and forethought of Sister Caroline, the Superintendent of both Children's Hospital and Convalescent Home. She had taught them beforehand how to act in case of fire, and they remembered her teaching. She went immediately to the Home on hearing of the fire, and to her quiet steadiness and calmness, and her wise arrangements for the care of the children, their safety is due. The Managers of the Home desire to express in the strongest manner their appreciation and gratitude. The Home must be immediately rebuilt — the work of the Hospital demands it, and special contributions for that purpose are earnestly requested. But the regular expenses of the work are still running on. The Managers have already secured a house in Wellesley Hills which can be used as a temporary Home while the other is rebuilding. For this, of course, they must pay rent ; so that the need of annual subscriptions and donations is the same as usual. They feel confident that their friends will help them in this great emergency.

Secretary.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Wednesday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

DEPARTMENT FOR OUT-PATIENTS.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Managers of The Children's Hospital present their thirty-fifth Annual Report.

The year began with the destruction by fire of The Convalescent Home, at Wellesley, which is so intimately associated with the Hospital that we felt its loss as keenly as though it had been our own. With great energy the Managers of that institution went immediately to work and secured the lease of a house where some twenty-six convalescents can be cared for, and began at once the work of raising funds to rebuild.

Feeling that it was not wise to ask for too much at once, and that an urgent appeal for funds to enable us to build a new hospital in Boston might interfere with the necessary amount being raised for The Convalescent Home, we have deferred pressing the matter of solicitation of funds for a new hospital, to be erected near the new Harvard Medical School, as outlined in our last Report, but wish again to place our existing situation before the public. Our present building was erected in 1882, and the last addition was built in 1890. Since 1890 the number of patients treated annually in the wards has increased from 406 in 1890 to 1,476 in 1903, and the visits to the Out-Patient Department have increased from 7,291 in 1890 to 28,764 in 1903. The result is that the present building has been entirely outgrown, that the work is done under conditions of over-crowding, which are harassing both to its medical staff and to the public. The building, over twenty years old, intended to care for but a fourth part of the numbers now treated, is not only entirely insufficient in room for dealing with the increased number of patients, but is also ill-adapted to modern methods of medical and surgical treatment. The advantage of having a modern hospital located in close proximity to the new medical school and the other hospitals which are to be erected in that vicinity cannot be overestimated; and if the Hospital is to maintain in the future the excellent reputation that it has had in the past, the move must be made. To carry it out we must have a large addition to our funds; and we ask those persons who are interested in relieving suffering children to aid us. We can say with confidence that, owing to the skill and devotion of the physicians and surgeons who have been connected with it, and the faithful care and attention of the Sisters of St. Margaret who have had charge of the administration, no hospital in the country has a finer history of usefulness. To maintain its high position, to take advantage of the present exceptional opportunity for re-location, and to do justice to the work which has made this position attainable, we must rely upon the co-operation of the public and its provision of funds for a new building. The great advance in the surgical treatment of diseases of children during the past few years has been emphasized by the work of the staff of The Children's Hospital in cases of congenital dislocation of the hip, following the method of Dr. Lorenz. The percentage of cases successfully treated is very large. The Hospital is greatly indebted to the interest of Mr. Ralph W. Bartlett, who has materially aided in the work of treating this deformity, especially in older children, by the aid of an appliance devised by him for the purpose. The value of the recently equipped X-ray department has been great in this connection, and in determining with certainty the extent of the deformities to be treated.

During the year we have received legacies from the estates of Edward I. Browne, Emily E. Sears, Susan T. Crosby; and Mrs. Mehitabel Wilson has given us funds for a memorial bed in memory of her two sisters. These gifts are gratefully acknowledged.

During the coal famine of a year ago we were provided with fuel through the generosity of Mr. Washington B. Thomas, to whom we express our sincere thanks.

On December 1, 1903, occurred the death of Dr. William Ingalls, in his ninety-first year. Dr. Ingalls was one of the original members of the medical staff of the Hospital, and also of the Board of Managers, and had continued as a manager until his death. He always took the greatest interest in the Hospital, and by his loving and kindly disposition was endeared to all with whom he had to do. We wish to record our appreciation of his services to the Hospital, both as physician and as manager.

For the Board of Managers,

HENRY WHEELER.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Faculty of the Training School herewith present the report of the thirteenth year of the school.

The curriculum of the School has been practically unchanged from the previous year, with the same period of practical instruction in the care of children, infants, and adults, and the special course in cooking established three years since.

The usual four months' course in the care of adults has been given at the Massachusetts General Hospital as during the preceding year.

The course in Massage, which has previously been given at the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, has this year been given at the Hospital, by an instructor from that School.

Five pupils graduated during the year.

The request for our nurses to take charge of departments in other hospitals is constantly increasing. Some of the demands we have been able to supply, and several of our graduates are now filling responsible positions in other institutions.

One addition has been made the past year to the corps of graduates, viz., an instructor of probationers. This innovation has already demonstrated its worth.

The present staff of the School consists of :—

Superintendent of Nurses.
Assistant Superintendent.
Three graduate Head Nurses.
An instructor of Probationers.
Instructor in Cooking.

Pupils as follows :—

Third year	6
Second year	14
First year	10
Total	30

The Alumnæ Association has had a prosperous year. A large proportion of members have joined the Massachusetts State Nurses' Association, organized last June, in the interests of the movement to secure State Registration of Nurses.

SISTER SUSANNA,
Secretary.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Nineteenth Annual Report.

The character of the work during the past year is unchanged, owing, however, to the disastrous fire of January 20, which destroyed the Home; the amount accomplished in comparison with preceding years is very much smaller. The number of children treated during the year is 277, and the daily average has been 13, against 422 treated in 1902, with a daily average of 46.

Immediately after the fire the efforts of the managers were directed towards hiring a temporary home. This they succeeded in doing, as a well-built house in Wellesley Hills, which had been newly set in order, with ample grounds and surrounded by fine trees, was secured at a reasonable rent. With skilful management and small expense this house was fitted to receive 15 children, a small but adequate room for surgical dressings was constructed out of a corner of the piazza, and for the play-room an unused barn was put into immediate service. On March 16 this Home was opened with Miss Brooke in charge.

One of the surgeons of the Out-Patient staff of the Hospital visits the Home each month, and a volunteer assistant and house surgeon go out every week to look over all dressings and apparatus, and to recommend children either for discharge to their own homes, or for transfer to the Hospital, as the case demands.

Since 1894 the Home has been kept open the whole year round, although this was not the original intention of the managers, but from small beginnings the Home has grown to a large Institution, the running expenses of which increase every year. As the doctors now send patients on the third or fourth day after operation, the condition of the children is more critical than formerly, and surgical dressings and more skilled attention are needed for individual cases. The Hospital now calls for a larger Convalescent Home than the old one, with a capacity for at least one hundred children.

Appeals to the public for the new building have been generously answered, but the requisite amount is not yet raised. For this purpose any sums however small will be gratefully received and acknowledged by the Treasurer, Mrs. H. G. Curtis, 179 Marlborough Street.

If anything were needed to prove the value of the Home, it would be the fact that the work of the Hospital in Boston has been so seriously crippled since the fire. Fewer children have been received during the past year than in the preceding one, and it has been necessary to send many patients to their homes while still in need of skilled treatment, in order to make room for more urgent cases.

Beside the running of the Convalescent Home, the managers provide the Hospital with all necessary clothing, boots and shoes, household linen, bandages, dresses, caps and aprons for the nurses, and jackets and aprons for the surgeons. This list increases every year, and for 1904 upwards of 6,000 articles are called for. These are cut out during the winter by managers and friends who volunteer their services. When ready the work is given out to subscribers and poor women to be finished.

At the October meeting it was unanimously decided to try an interesting experiment at the Home, namely, that of the Fresh Air cure for tuberculous and nervous patients. Dr. E. H. Bradford and Dr. H. L. Burrell had been asked to look up the subject as applied heretofore only to adults, and they addressed the Board, giving the result of their investigations, and strongly advising that the said cure be tried for the children at the Convalescent Home. Plans were shown for a shed or shack, the sides of which were to consist of sliding doors, to be kept open day and night when possible. Here the children were to live, only going to the main building for meals and necessary surgical dressings. This matter was voted on and put into the hands of the building committee.

In December, when the managers went to the annual Christmas Tree which they give at the Home, they had the pleasure of seeing the scheme in operation, and a commodious shed 40 feet long by 20 feet wide, furnished with eight cots and two stoves, in constant use. Three doctors of the hospital staff are carefully watching the new treatment, and although it is too soon as yet to say what benefits may accrue, both doctors and nurses agree in believing in the great value of the experiment.

In February the managers met with a severe loss in the death of Mrs. T. C. A. Linzee, one of the earliest and most valued members of the Board. Her long and faithful services are gratefully recognized, and her unflagging interest and zeal sincerely missed by all those associated with her in this charity so dear to her heart.

The managers wish to express their grateful thanks to the Sisters of St. Margaret for their untiring care at both Hospital and Home, and to Miss Brooke for her steady and faithful service at the Convalescent Home; also to Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, who is ever ready and willing to respond to cases of emergency; and they take this opportunity of acknowledging the kindness of the Boston and Albany R. R. in providing the children with free transport in a special car from Wellesley Hills to Boston on the day of the fire.

A gift of $500 endows a Memorial Bed. One such has been given, and a brass tablet engraved with the name placed in the Home. This tablet was saved from the fire and will be replaced in the new building.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Wednesday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

DEPARTMENT FOR OUT-PATIENTS.

Surgical, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday, 2 to 4.

Medical, Monday, Tuesday, Thursday, and Saturday, 9 to 10.30.

Department for Diseases of the Throat, Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday, 2 to 4.

Department for Nervous Diseases, Wednesday and Saturday, 2 to 4.

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Managers, in submitting their thirty-sixth annual report, beg to report to the Corporation that the work of the Hospital has progressed favorably during the past year. There have been treated in the Hospital proper 1,505 cases; in the Out-Patient Department 28,008 cases, of which 6,341 were new and 21,667 old cases. The results, taking into consideration the fact that the Hospital has outgrown its present quarters, have been wonderfully satisfactory. For these results, the Managers wish to express their deep sense of gratitude to the staff and to the Sisters of St. Margaret. The increase in the number of cases treated at the Hospital since 1890, when there were 442 patients treated in the Hospital proper and 1,712 new patients in the Out-Patient Department, has been so great that the work of the institution has entirely outgrown the accommodations, and the high standard of its work is attained only by the most devoted and unfailing service on the part of those to whom the administration is entrusted.

The inadequacy of the present accommodations has been the most serious problem that the Managers have had to deal with for several years past, and, as everybody interested in the Hospital knows, arrangements have been made to procure land for new buildings. The land which has been obtained is admirably suited for the needs of a hospital. Close by the new Harvard Medical School and the proposed Infants' and Brigham hospitals, it furnishes facilities which could not be obtained anywhere else. All of these facts have been mentioned in former reports of the Managers. They are repeated now because it would seem that the work of raising the money to make the building of a new hospital possible should be actively undertaken.

The Corporation at present shows an annual deficit of approximately $13,000. Thanks to bequests and gifts which have been received from time to time, it has been possible to meet this annual deficit without actually encroaching upon our already accumulated capital. It has seemed unwise until this time to make a definite appeal to the friends of the Hospital for the money necessary to build and equip the new structure. The demands upon this community for money have been very great, and as the Medical School was only in process of construction and the plans of the other hospitals somewhat vague, it has hitherto seemed best to wait. Now, however, while the deeds of our new land have not actually passed, the surveys are complete and it is probable that the title to the land will be taken very shortly.

Plans for a new hospital have been prepared and are being considered, but nothing definite can be done until we know how much money can be raised for the undertaking. In the meantime, the good that we can accomplish is being seriously lessened by the present inadequate quarters. The demand for treatment at the Hospital is steadily growing. The number of patients that can be treated is limited by the Hospital facilities. Especially is this true in the Out-Patient Department.

The Managers are unwilling to start upon the construction of the new building until they have in hand sufficient money not only to build and equip the new hospital, but also to establish a fund large enough to give a reasonable feeling of certainty that the work will not be hampered by lack of the necessary money to carry it on. Under these circumstances the Managers most respectfully appeal to all persons who are interested in this charity for help at this time.

The splendid work that the Hospital is doing is perhaps hardly appreciated by our citizens not connected with the medical profession. The results which have been achieved by its medical and surgical staff have given to it a reputation not only throughout the United States, but also in Europe, which is most satisfactory. Its present quarters are, however, no longer proper for the work that is being done. The improvements in the last few years in hospital construction have left our buildings far behind the times, and it is only by severe efforts that the excellent work now done is possible in the present structure. As the building grows older and the tax on it greater it is increasingly harder to accomplish the results which every one connected with the Hospital strives for. Various improvements have been made during the past year to meet, as far as possible, the difficulties which have arisen from time to time, but these improvements are, at the best, makeshifts and of necessity expensive makeshifts.

During the year the rebuilding of the Convalescent Home at Wellesley has steadily gone forward, until now there is substantially completed a larger building with better accommodations than ever before.

Arrangements have been made with the Simmons Female College by which the nurses, as part of their training at the Hospital, take certain courses at the college by means of which they will become better equipped to deal with the many problems which they are called upon to decide in their professional work. It is confidently believed that this arrangement will be of great assistance not only to the nurses, but to the many people they are called upon to take care of.

The Managers report the receipt of legacies during the past year from the estates of Charles H. Hayden, Joseph H. Curtis, Harriet W. Taber, and Edward P. Champney. These gifts are gratefully acknowledged.

For the Board of Managers,

THOMAS N. PERKINS.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Training School Committee presents the following report of the fourteenth year of the school.

A marked change had been made during the year in the school curriculum and in the method of instruction. The period of preliminary instruction has been prolonged, and this instruction is now given by trained teachers under the auspices of an educational institution.

By the co-operation of our Managers, and the corporation of Simmons College, arrangements have been made with Simmons College whereby our pupils receive instruction at that institution in Anatomy and Physiology, Chemistry, Bacteriology, and Household Economics, by means of lectures, recitations, and demonstrations in the college laboratories.

The pupils are received at Simmons College in the spring and fall of each year for a period of four months each.

This change in our school curriculum has necessitated lengthening the probation term to six months. The first four months of this time are devoted to theoretical study at the college, and the remaining two months are occupied in practical instruction in the various branches of elementary nursing in the Hospital wards, under the direct supervision of the instructor of probationers.

Although this arrangement is yet in the experimental stage, the results already obvious apparently justify the expectation that pupils thus grounded in fundamental principles will make proportionately faster and more intelligent progress when entering upon the duties of nursing as accepted members of the training school.

The length of the course remains the same, viz., three years. Practically the same instruction as last year, in medical and surgical subjects, has been given by members of the staff. No changes have been made in the courses in Cooking, Massage, and District Nursing.

In addition to the usual four months' training in adult nursing received by our pupils at the Massachusetts General Hospital, a portion of the senior class have had three months' experience in the care of private patients at the Corey Hill Hospital.

Six pupils graduated during the year.

The present staff of the School consists of : —

Superintendent of Nurses.
 Assistant Superintendent of Nurses.
 Night Supervisor.
 Ward Supervisor.
 Instructor of Probationers.
 Instructor in Cooking.
 Three Graduate Head Nurses.

Pupil nurses	43
Third year	13
Second year	8
First year	6
Probationers	16

The Nurses' Home has been enlarged by the addition of another dormitory for the accommodation of the pupils engaged in taking the preliminary course.

Lecture hours at the college are so arranged that the pupils have ample time for recreation during the day. Recitations are prepared in the evening in a quiet study provided for the purpose. The study hours are directed by the Sister in charge of the Nurses' Home.

The Nurses' Alumnæ Association has completed the fourth year of its existence. Four new members have been enrolled from the graduating class of this year, making its present membership forty-five.

Signed,

SISTER SUSANNA,
Secretary.

CONVALESCENT HOME
OF THE
CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL
WELLESLEY
WINSLOW & BIGELOW ARCHITECTS BOSTON

FIRST FLOOR PLAN

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twentieth Annual Report. The work of the past year has been most interesting, as demonstrating the value of the shack or fresh-air treatment for tuberculous and nervous patients.

In December, 1903, the beginning was made with eight children, who lived day and night in a shed, forty feet long by twenty feet wide, provided with sliding doors and a row of windows above, the atmosphere being tempered by two stoves. One very cold night the thermometer dropped to 18° Fahr., but the average temperature during the unusually severe winter was 50° .

At no time did the children complain of being cold, and their appetites and general health showed a marked improvement from the first. At night each child wore, under the blankets, woollen undergarments, flannel nightgown, bed-shoes, and hood, and was finally put into a big flannel bag, which was fastened round the neck.

Now, at the end of twelve months, both doctors and nurses give the system their unqualified approval.

The number of patients treated in the Home during the year is 245, with a daily average of 29, against 277 treated in 1903, with a daily average of 13. The apparent incongruity of this statement is accounted for by the fact that many cases of tuberculous joint were kept for several months to insure thorough treatment.

The Building Committee has had much trouble in placing the new Home, as, owing to great difficulty in draining the soil, the original site had been condemned for the open shack system by the Board of Health. After vainly seeking for a more favorable locality, it was finally decided to return to the former site, where by acquiring an adjoining lot of land the objectionable brook could be drained ; and this with an elaborate sewage disposal plant "renders the land entirely suitable from a sanitary standpoint."¹

In the meantime the plans for the building were approved and accepted by the Managers, who here wish to express their appreciation of the unfailing courtesy and patience shown them by the architect, Mr. Bigelow, of the firm of Winslow & Bigelow ; and on the 7th of November the corner-stone was laid, with a simple service of prayer. It is hoped and expected that the Home will be ready for occupancy in the early summer of 1905.

The doctors and surgeons of the Hospital have, as usual, kept the patients under regular and systematic supervision, visiting them every week, and recommending them either for discharge to their own homes or for a return to the Hospital, as the case demands. Miss Brooke, the able nurse at the head of the Home, whose term had expired in the autumn, was re-engaged, with Miss Robinson as assistant.

In addition to the work at the Convalescent Home, the Managers undertake to provide the Hospital in Boston with all the clothing, boots, and shoes for the children ; dresses, caps, and aprons for the nurses ; jackets and aprons for the surgeons ; and all bed and table linen, as well as bandages. Because of the loss by fire in January, 1903, and in preparation for the new Home, a very large number of articles is required, the list amounting to upwards of fourteen thousand pieces. These are cut out during the winter by Managers and friends, who offer their services, and when ready are given out to subscribers and poor women to be finished.

The Sisters of St. Margaret have, as ever, been unfailing in their care and devotion at both Hospital and Home. Towards them the Managers feel a sense of gratitude and appreciation which can never be expressed. They also wish to thank Dr. Bancroft, of Wellesley, for his kindness in responding to any emergency case which may arise ; also to express their thanks to the many kind friends who, by their generous donations, have made rebuilding possible. The shack system has been incorporated into the plan of the new building, as the accompanying diagram will show.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Sunday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

IN making this, their thirty-seventh annual report to the Corporation, the Managers find themselves again constrained to draw attention to the fact that the growing demand upon the charitable service which it is the peculiar province of this Hospital to render, and the general improvement in measures of relief, to which its Medical and Surgical Staff have been large contributors, increasingly emphasize the inadequacy of the holdings of the Corporation, in buildings and in funds, to the continued sustaining of a work which has given to The Children's Hospital in the city of Boston an enviable reputation for the advanced character of its service, the efficiency and economy of its administration, and the value of its contribution to the welfare of the community.

The extent to which the existing provision, both accommodative and sustaining, has been outgrown since the Hospital building on Huntington Avenue was first occupied, twenty years ago, can be only moderately estimated when it is said that its work has more than quadrupled; it is necessary to see the thoughtful adaptation of meagre means to large ends, the duplications of service, which make one room answer for two, the crowding where there should be ample space, to attain a proper appreciation of the absolute necessity for newer and larger buildings and more adequate support to a charity distinctive both in the quality, and the amount, of its service.

The function of a hospital being the administration of public contributions, as the means by which members of the medical profession can carry out measures of relief and contribute to the increase and spread of helpful knowledge, it is desirable that some presentation of working efficiency should be made as the basis of appeal for necessary support. Tabulated statements, while of value to the medical profession, do not answer this general purpose, and it has been deemed advisable to incorporate, in this report, statements as to the work of the several departments, which have been prepared by members of the Medical and Surgical Staff of the Hospital and which will convey an idea both of efficiency and of needs.

In addition to its medical and surgical wards in the building on Huntington Avenue, and corresponding wards in the subsidiary hospital of the Convalescent Home in Wellesley, The Children's Hospital conducts a large out-patient department, an orthopedic department, a department of out-door relief, an efficient training school for nurses, and departments for the treatment of the nervous diseases of children, of diseases of the throat, and departments of pathological and X-ray investigation; in addition there is, in connection with the Hospital, but under separate corporate management, a shop for the manufacture of appliances for the correction of deformities, administered under the direction of the Surgical Staff of the Hospital.

An inspection of the Treasurer's balance sheet will show that we have, invested in the land and buildings on Huntington Avenue, now in use, the sum of $316,894.77, that we have purchased land, adjoining the new Medical School of Harvard University, for the erection of a new building at an expense of $120,729.78, that our funds, invested in income-producing securities, amount to $433,501.10.

A new hospital building will cost much more than the price that can be obtained by a sale of our land and buildings on Huntington Avenue, and the expense of maintaining a new and improved building, with modern appliances, will be so great that we do not feel justified in starting the building until our funds have been greatly increased.

We gratefully acknowledge the receipt of bequests from the estates of the following persons received during the year: Charles H. Hayden, $20,000; Mary Sophia Walker, $1,000; George William Boyd, $5,000; Sarah Wyman Whitman, $10,000; Harriet W. Taber, $500 (balance). Total, $36,500.

A perusal of the following statements will show how urgent is the need of a new hospital, and we hope that the generous people of our city will supply us with the money.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

THERE are a number of significant facts which all who are interested in the medical diseases of children should know in connection with the medical side of The Children's Hospital.

The medical wards of the Hospital are not only a refuge for a class of cases which probably would die unless received in them, but they also represent much from an educational point of view; for it is here that the poorer class of children are taught to appreciate the beneficial results of cleanliness, order, and obedience, and the parents, learning through the children, acquire better ideas of how to adjust and manage their households, and to provide simple and economical methods of amusing, clothing, and making life pleasant for their children. It is well for the charitable public to appreciate this side of medical charity, and give freely to help carry out what not only is a charity, but the furtherance of a duty.

The medical side of the Hospital has grown, year by year, until it no longer has means at its command to satisfy the needs of the poor and the increasing demands which are continually being made upon it. The Out-Patient Department is so inadequate for the accommodation of the throngs of worthy poor, who may be said to overflow its examining rooms, that there is no question but that money can be well spent in enlarging it.

There is an important difference between the character of the medical and surgical services of a hospital, in that the surgical beds are kept full by a long waiting list from which the cases can be drawn whenever the hospital is ready for them, while on the medical side the cases are of a class which cannot wait and, as a rule, must be received and treated at once or not at all. This means, sometimes, an overflow of patients who cannot wait and yet cannot be accommodated, and that lives are lost among sick children by the pneumonias or the gastro-enteric diseases or by the acute infections, lives which might have been saved were it possible to secure admission to the hospital.

It is interesting in this connection to note how greatly the number of patients has increased on the medical side since 1884, thus showing the necessity for provision of greater accommodation. In 1884 98 cases were treated in the wards and 266 new cases in the Out-Patient Department. In 1905, 589 cases were treated in the wards and 2,500 in the Out-Patient Department.

During twenty-two years the medical cases treated in the wards increased 501 per cent and the surgical 455 per cent. The total number of new and old cases treated in the Medical Out-Patient Department in eighteen years has increased 477 per cent; in the surgical, 266 per cent. The new patients treated in the Medical Out-Patient Department in twenty-two years have increased 839 per cent; in the surgical, 675 per cent.

It is a matter of frequent occurrence that physicians, both in different parts of the city and in our own Medical Out-Patient Department, are unable to get a bed for a child which ought to have one at once, and where there is no question of being able to delay until a bed can be obtained. It is especially of importance, on the medical side, that a number of beds should be waiting for the children, and not that the children should wait for the beds.

The Children's Hospital, in its medical wards, gives what no other institution in the State gives or approaches to giving, — it cares for the acute and dangerous diseases of children in such an advanced, scientific, practical, and educational way as to command the admiration of all who have entered its doors and understood its work.

It has already been made evident that, as a teaching centre for the class of cases which the physician meets in his practice, this Hospital is of inestimable practical value; and if it were for this reason alone, its work as a public medical life-saver should be widened until the children who ought to be treated and studied in the wards can be so provided for.

THE GENERAL SURGICAL SERVICE

THE general surgical service at The Children's Hospital has existed a little over two years. As a matter of agreement and convenience it was decided to segregate these cases, as they represent an important field in general surgery. The number of patients treated on the general surgical service, House and Out-Patient Department, is already larger than on the orthopedic service, House and Out-Patient Department. Fortunately, the cases require shorter durations of treatment, and hence can be cured more rapidly. In the general surgical service of the House there are from eighteen to twenty beds, and in these beds have been treated 405 patients with major surgical diseases.

Seventy-eight operations have been done upon seventy-two patients for the radical cure of hernia, and with one exception all of these cases have been discharged well. While it is too early as yet to say that among these cases there may be no relapse, it is worthy of note that during the past two years no relapse has been observed. Three cases of strangulated hernia have been operated upon.

Fifty-seven operations for empyema have been done during the past year at the Hospital on fifty-two cases, five patients being readmitted for operation. The work that has been done has been very satisfactory, and information is being obtained as to the class of cases in which it is necessary to do a more radical operation.

A large number of abdominal emergencies are admitted to the Hospital, cases that demand immediate treatment,—for example, twenty-three cases of appendicitis, three cases of intestinal obstruction, one of intussusception, and a number of cases of imperforate anus or rectum.

There have been thirty-two fractures treated. Many of these cases were for malunion, the result of previous unsatisfactory treatment. Many cases of fracture of the thigh which demand hospital care have been treated. At present these cases must remain for at least six weeks in the Hospital, but it is to be hoped that eventually a method of treatment will be devised by which they can, with safety, be transferred to the Convalescent Home.

The general surgical service has apparently become a place of last appeal for the relief of extraordinary congenital malformations, such as cleft palate, hare lip, branchial cysts, spina bifida, deformed ears, deformities of the bladder and urethra, and imperforate anus. There is no similar service in this community which deals with the surgery of children; and the great good that it accomplishes is in the treatment of the surgical emergencies, malformations, and deformations of childhood.

The variety of rare surgical conditions which are seen at the Hospital is not fully indicated by the tables of diseases, because many urgent cases have to be turned away for the lack of beds, while others, less urgent, drift away as the result of long delays in securing admissions.

Thus to-day, January 13, there is, in spite of the fact that many cases sent for have not reported because treated elsewhere, a waiting list of fifty-two, one recommended to the Hospital in April, 1904, another in June, 1904, and a third in September, 1904.

Among the four hundred and five patients treated there were thirty-eight deaths. This mortality of about nine and one-half per cent indicates the exceedingly serious character of the diseases treated. A study of the causes of death shows that many of them were, in the present state of surgical knowledge, absolutely unavoidable. After operations undertaken deliberately, and not as a matter of necessity, there was one death, from broncho-pneumonia, complicated by acetonemia. This one death among the four hundred patients represents the small and perhaps inevitable risk of any operative interference. The remaining thirty-seven deaths were in cases where an attempt was made to save life in an all but hopeless condition.

The number of patients treated in the General Surgical Out-Patient Department was 1339. The total number of visits made by these patients was 3881.

The character of the cases treated is indicated in a general way by the tables of diseases. A little over two hundred patients have had abscesses and infections of the lymph nodes of the neck. In the majority of instances these were due to inflammation of the tonsils or the naso-pharynx. A large number of patients are treated in the Throat Department for infections of the naso-pharynx and tonsils, and are cured, but the cases that come to the Surgical Department are more severe in character. These patients in the Throat Department and Surgical Department represent a portion of the children who are infected by filthy, dust-laden streets.

The number of accidents treated in the Out-Patient Department is comparatively small.

The number of cases of hernia is large. One-fifth of the children treated in the department are ruptured. There is to-day a waiting list of twenty-six children with hernia, there is no similar disease which at the present time can be treated by operation so safely and with such assurance of permanent success as inguinal hernia. If cured in childhood the dangers incident to the condition are removed; the care, anxiety, expense, and annoyance of mechanical treatment, which must usually be lifelong, are permanently obviated. The partial disability and loss of working capacity are saved to the community. The satisfactory results of operative cure are indicated in the report of the house cases.

Twenty-eight cases of nevus have been treated during the year. Unfortunately most of these have been neglected until they have grown to many times their original size. Excision, electrolysis, or cauterization have been the usual methods of treatment adopted. It is to be hoped that in time the public may be educated to ask for immediate and radical treatment of any birthmark, however slight it may be, which shows any tendency whatever to grow.

Eighty malformations scarcely indicate the variety of rare congenital diseases which come to the Hospital. Aside from the direct good which can be done to these patients the cases are invaluable for purposes of instruction and the methods devised and adapted for curing these diseases are transmitted to practitioners, and diffuse knowledge of great benefit to the community.

There are only two beds in the Hospital which are available for the treatment of orthopedic or surgical cases in children under two years of age. This has two results: 1. Babes brought to the Hospital frequently have to be sent elsewhere. 2. The public and outside physicians are discouraged in sending these patients to the Hospital.

In the Out-Patient Department all operations are done which it is thought may be done with safety under out-patient conditions. In some instances the imperative demand, made upon the limited number of beds in the wards, obliges operations to be done in the Out-Patient Department that might better be done in the hospital. Two hundred and eleven operations have been performed; seventy-three of these have been on abscesses, seventy-two have been circumcisions, and thirty cases of nevus. The remainder have been for various injuries and diseases.

ORTHOPEDIC DEPARTMENT

THE work of the Orthopedic Department of the Hospital should be considered under two heads. First, the work in the wards, and second, in the Out-Patient Department.

The work in the wards during the last year has been less than it would otherwise have been on account of the very limited accommodations of the temporary Convalescent Home, pending rebuilding, which has made it impossible to send to Wellesley any considerable number of children convalescing from operation, freeing the beds in the Hospital, and making it possible to admit and care for more cases. As a result of this there has been at nearly all times a long waiting list of applicants for admission, many of the cases urgently requiring operation. With the opening of the Convalescent Home a few months ago the matter has been in a measure remedied, but even now the demand for beds is in excess of the supply, and many cases must wait an unduly long time for admission.

In the list of operations it is of interest to note the relatively large number of operations performed for congenital dislocation of the hip, and for tendon transplantation in infantile paralysis, the two operative procedures which at present are of the greatest interest in the orthopedic world on account of the relief afforded in conditions for which little could be formerly accomplished.

At the Hospital the results of the treatment of congenital dislocation of the hip have been most successful, and a report of the results of 144 cases observed and treated at the Hospital from 1884 to 1903 inclusive was made by the orthopedic staff in 1904. Of cases operated in 1903 the percentage of success was sixty-six and six tenths per cent; eighteen per cent were improved and fifteen per cent were failures.

The elaboration of an apparatus to facilitate the reduction of these dislocated hips has been carried out at the Hospital and a new method of treatment has thus been added to those already in use. The methods in use at the Hospital in this affection are being followed in other institutions in different parts of the country.

The Children's Hospital has always stood for conservatism as opposed to operative measures in the treatment of tuberculosis of the joints, such as hip disease, and when German and English authorities were speaking strongly in favor of early operative measures upon these cases the attitude of the Children's Hospital remained unchanged. It is gratifying to note that at the International Congress held in Brussels in September, 1905, at which meeting the Hospital was represented, the consensus of opinion among the foreign surgeons was entirely in favor of the conservative treatment, a conclusion in line with the policy advocated by the staff of The Children's Hospital during the last twenty years.

Under the present conditions of the old Hospital building and the great increase of the work done in it, the operating facilities are entirely inadequate, and although by strict care the asepsis of the Hospital is satisfactory, the Operative Department is very much in need of division and extension. It is gratifying to note that the number of graduate students studying orthopedic surgery at the Hospital is steadily increasing, and that they come from a wider area, all parts of the country now being represented. In this way the influence of the Hospital is being enlarged, the teaching capacity increased, and one of the duties for which a hospital exists in the extension of its benefits beyond its walls is secured.

The Orthopedic Out-Patient Department increases steadily in the number of cases treated and in the efficiency of its treatment. The fact that more interest is taken in orthopedic surgery in the community at large is helpful in giving a larger supply of assistants, and the change in the teaching at the Medical School has made it possible to employ the students taking the course in orthopedic surgery as assistants in the department, thus increasing its efficiency.

In 1885 there were 301 out-patients treated, including patients in general surgery; ten years later, in 1895, there were treated 875 patients, including patients in general surgery. In 1905 there were treated 1035 new orthopedic cases, and 1339 cases of general surgery in the General Surgical Department. The number of 2374 new cases in orthopedic and general surgery is therefore to be set against the figures given above. There were also treated in the year 1905, 5166 old cases, making a total of 5201 visits.

The establishment of the new Convalescent Home, with its facilities for out-door treatment of joint tuberculosis, and the extension of the Out-Door Relief Department has made it possible to extend the work of the Out-Patient Department by enabling it to provide both nourishing food and fresh air, along with nursing and country surroundings, for children who would otherwise live in crowded tenements, and also of enabling the cases which are too sick to attend the Hospital to be taken care of at their homes by the out-door relief nurse.

The Charitable Surgical Appliance Shop, which is situated in the basement of the Out-Patient Department of The Children's Hospital, has been placed on a more economical basis, and braces and necessary appliances are furnished to Hospital patients practically at cost. It is hoped in the near future to extend the work of the Out-Patient Department by giving instruction to the mothers, of the children with joint tuberculosis, regarding the proper care and home surroundings of such children. In this way it is hoped to secure for them more nourishing and better food, fresh air, and greater comfort than now exists in the case of the children of the poorer classes under the care of the Hospital.

LATERAL CURVATURE CLINIC

THE lateral curvature clinic, which is conducted as a subdivision of the Orthopedic Department, is an interesting and important development of the work. Where statistics of school children are taken, as has been done in Russia, Denmark, Germany, and Switzerland, about twenty-six per cent are found to have some degree of lateral curvature of the spine. As there is no reason to suppose that American children are less affected than is indicated in these figures, it is obvious that the department undertaking the care of such cases has a wide usefulness both in the care and treatment of the children and in the training of teachers of physical education.

Prior to 1890 no attempt had been made at the Hospital to treat cases of lateral curvatures separately from other orthopedic patients. They were treated when they appeared, but with no proper facilities, and the treatment was unsatisfactory. In 1886 to 1890 only 87 applied for treatment. In 1890 an attempt was made to treat the cases more systematically by setting apart a room in the Out-Patient Department. The department gradually grew, and the exercises were given by volunteer assistants from the various schools giving instruction in physical education. Even under these conditions the supply of assistants was irregular, and in January, 1905, an arrangement was made, with the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, by which attendance at the clinic of the Hospital became a part of the regular course of training at the School, the pupils of the School being sent to the Hospital for a period of eight months each, under the supervision of their instructors, the whole work being under the direction of the assistant surgeons of the Hospital; in return for this work the students received instruction in lateral curvature from the assistant surgeons. In the year that the scheme has been on trial it has resulted in a great extension of the work of the clinic and a marked improvement in its efficiency. The number of cases applying for treatment is far in excess of the facilities of the department, as the quarters are entirely inadequate. It has therefore been decided to take only as many cases as can be treated efficiently, and the fact that the total visits for the year amount to 4,786 may give some idea of the work accomplished. Altogether during the year 165 cases have been treated. One hundred and seven new cases have applied, of which it has been possible to treat only 67, the remainder being placed on a waiting list. As many of these are in urgent need of treatment, the situation is most unsatisfactory.

Of the cases treated 129 were cases of lateral curvature, 100 of them being cases in which a structural change had occurred in the bones and therefore belonging to the more severe grades of this affection. The remainder were cases of faulty attitude, round shoulders, and miscellaneous affections.

In the severer cases from one to two hours work is demanded four times at least a week, and in the milder cases a certain amount of home work is insisted upon. Regular attendance is required, and any child absent, without a good excuse, is warned and then dropped from the clinic. In spite of this the Hospital finds itself with a long waiting list which it is unable to treat, and the cases accepted are treated under difficulties in a room of inadequate size and with insufficient ventilation.

It is gratifying to record that even under these conditions cases have made most satisfactory progress, and that the modern surgical treatment of lateral curvature is being systematically carried out in this institution to the best of its ability, an ability which would be greatly increased by proper provision in new quarters.

DEPARTMENT OF NERVOUS DISEASES

IN the great advance in the practice of medicine and surgery during the past twenty-five years, which almost revolutionized our methods in many branches and has more than quadrupled our capabilities for cure and relief, the Department of Neurology has had its full share. In 1880 this branch of medicine was in its infancy. Even in 1890 comparatively little was known about it by the general profession and still less by the laity. Now it has so advanced, its work is so definite, and its results so beneficial, that in spite of great difficulties, inherent in its character, it has won partial, if not adequate, recognition in public opinion.

This department in the Children's Hospital takes charge (1) of all cases of paralysis which do not need surgical or orthopedic treatment. These are numerous and somewhat varied. Many a child can be restored to the use and command of his limbs without the necessity of surgical operation or mechanical appliances; or when these are required, with the means at our disposal, we are able to render more permanent and more effective the results thus obtained. (II) Many of the conditions which are commonly known as "nervousness," dependent on the constitution of the child or on temporary causes, are here treated and the results in this direction are most important. (III) Those unfortunates and defectives who are afflicted with serious diseases or affections of the brain all come to this department. There is no class of children more to be pitied than the epileptics, and although cure may not be possible much can be done to relieve epilepsy, and possibly we may learn to prevent its occurrence. It is in this direction that our most earnest efforts are now turned.

The feeble-minded also are seen here and fitting advice is given for their care and provision. In these cases the parents, especially the mothers, are the persons to be pitied. Cure for these unfortunates is not possible, but an immense amount can be done to lessen the burden upon the afflicted household.

This department is of recent creation and began with very few patients, perhaps two or three a day. There are now, most of the time, from forty to sixty patients at each clinic. This means at least eighty to one hundred and twenty persons and often more, and our present waiting-room is now inadequate, even without the patients belonging to the Throat Department, who use it one day in the week. As our work becomes better known, as the less marked cases are recognized by the medical profession, and as the surrounding population increases, while we still continue to draw patients from a greater distance, our numbers are likely to increase. Our present accommodations are too small. We are much cramped. The assistant physician and the assistant have not sufficient room and are often obliged to do their work in the midst of inevitable noise and confusion.

The methods employed for mechanical treatment are massage and electricity, and the results are often beneficial beyond the expectation of the inexperienced. They can, however, only be accomplished through the personal work and the devotion of an expert masseuse, who has been connected with the Hospital for many years, and who with her assistant or assistants occupies one room in which twenty or more patients are treated at each clinic (twice a week). There is a large waiting list and the more important cases are given the earliest opportunity. Electricity (Faradism) is also used in many cases, either alone or in combination with the massage. This is given, under the direction of the assistant, by a nurse provided by the Hospital.

In addition to the mechanical treatment there are a number of patients who need simply medicine and regulation of the diet, as with ordinary medical patients. Much of the time and attention of the physician is also given to the instruction of the parents in cases of epilepsy and other forms of brain disease, where so much depends upon the suitable regulation of the life of the patient. In many cases of this class, from an intolerable nuisance the patient may be made to become, if not a useful, at least a less burdensome member of the family, or can be removed to some place fitted for his reception and care.

This department needs to be enlarged and to be encouraged; more room is wanted, more facilities, and as much public interest as possible in our peculiar and, we believe, most valuable work.

It should be noted that this department is the only one of its kind in New England, and that there are very few in the United States devoted wholly to the treatment of nervous diseases in children.

DEPARTMENT FOR DISEASES OF THE THROAT

THE work done in this department may be justly considered as of importance, for the reason that, in every patient operated upon, obstacles to bodily, as well as to mental development, are removed and future diseases prevented.

That this is true is shown by the fact that many of our cases come to us from other departments for helpful diagnosis or for treatment of conditions.

The figures given show simply the number of applicants examined and treated and the material yearly increase of work done, but do not in any way indicate the kind or quality of that work, or its bearing upon the relief of conditions causative of other morbid processes. The medical departments, house and out-patient, frequently ask for the assistance of the Throat Department.

From December 28, 1904 to December 28, 1905

The number of new patients was	1193
The whole number of visits made	1907

X-RAY DEPARTMENT

THE scope and usefulness of the X-Ray Department at The Children's Hospital has constantly increased during the past year. The surgeons and physicians of the Hospital have found it of great value as a factor in the making of diagnoses, the accuracy of which, attained in this manner, have resulted in notable benefit to the patients, and its efforts are useful not only to the surgeons and physicians directly, but also, indirectly, to the patients and to the community at large.

Below is appended a table of the X-ray negatives made during the past year, classed under pathological conditions :

Fracture, 156 ; dislocation, 7 ; congenital deformities, 175 ; tuberculosis: of the shoulder, 2 ; of the hip, 191 ; of the knee, 62 ; of the spine, 21 ; of the ankle and foot, 22 ; of the wrist and hand, 5 ; osteomyelosis, 99 ; luetic conditions, 7 ; periostitis, 3 ; paralytic conditions, 7 ; other conditions, 24 ; lateral curvature of the spine, 16.

No diagnosis has been made in 34 cases, and negative results are noted in 102, making 843 cases in all.

THE PATHOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT

Surgical Specimens Examined.	97
Bacteriological Examinations:
General	342
Throat.	99
Dressings, Sutures, etc.	59
Autopsies	44

This does not include the blood examinations, typhoid and cytologic diagnoses, which have been made in a large number of cases by the House Officers.

A large number of cases of exceptional interest have shown the great value of this pathological work in the thorough understanding of the causes and course of disease. The number of cases and the opportunities that this Hospital offers for the study of the diseases of children are so great that there is a chance for the further development of this work.

A larger laboratory room where the Surgical, Medical, and Out-Patient Departments could each have a desk and microscope and the appointment of a pathological externe would meet this need.

OUT-DOOR RELIEF DEPARTMENT

The Out-Door Relief Department of the Hospital supplements and extends the work of the Hospital by caring for such patients, at their homes, as have been discharged from the wards or Convalescent Home, and who cannot, on account of their disability, visit the Out-Patient Department, and by providing nursing for out-patient cases too sick to attend the clinics, yet who do not for some reason require admission to the wards.

In the large clientele of the Out-Patient Department are many children living under unfavorable conditions at home, conditions which react seriously and delay proper progress toward recovery.

It is the aim of the out-door relief nurse to secure for these children better home surroundings, such as separate rooms, fresh air, some degree of cleanliness, as good food as maybe, and care on the part of the parents.

Considering the fact that the bulk of the patients under the care of this department are cases of chronic joint tuberculosis, and that many of the parents are careless, poor, and perhaps intemperate, the field for work in this department is a large one.

In a case of hip disease, for example, a useful joint is not to be obtained by a month's stay in the Hospital, nor by two months in the Convalescent Home, but by daily care at home for a period of two or three years. The work is intended to be not only helpful to the individual patients but educational also, in the sense of training the parents to co-operate with the surgeons of the Hospital, and to a higher level in the care of their homes and of their other children.

The department was organized in 1894 and placed under the supervision of the District Nursing Association of Boston. In 1896 the department was assumed by the Hospital and placed under the charge of the out-patient nurse, assisted by a third-year pupil nurse from the Training School, one of the assistant surgeons having general supervision of the visiting.

In November, 1905, with a view to developing the scope and amount of work, the department was put in charge of a graduate nurse who had taken the special course for social workers at Simmons College.

During the year 1905, 131 cases were visited, the total number of visits being 1713. This represents a great amount of work, as the cases are scattered and much time is lost in going from place to place, South Boston, East Boston, Roxbury, Charlestown, Hyde Park, Everett, Milton, Chelsea, Lynn, Mattapan, Canton, and Watertown, being on the list.

Hitherto the cases have been chiefly those from the orthopedic service, and the duty of the nurse has been to attend to surgical dressings, to instruct the mother in the care of the apparatus, in the value of fresh air and cleanliness, and in the proper feeding of these cases. Some of these children require daily visits, others are visited only once a month. Cases not doing well at home are told to report at the Out-Patient Department and are readmitted to the Hospital when necessary. Those whose surroundings make it impossible for them to have proper care at home are sent to the Convalescent Home, where they may be kept for as long a period as necessary, to insure, if possible, their complete recovery.

This department is indebted to a club of young ladies who have this winter undertaken to visit and follow up selected cases which no longer need the services of the nurse.

It is hoped to extend the work by adding the services of a pupil nurse from the Training School — both to extend the work and to secure the advantages of such training for the pupil nurses. The department has thus become not only an aid to the efficiency of the Hospital, but a factor for good in the field of general charitable work and must be regarded as of value to the community at large.

MEMORIALS.

By a vote of the Corporation. — Any person giving to the Corporation, at one time, not less than five hundred dollars, has the privilege of affixing the name of a child to a bed in the Hospital, subject to the decision of the Managers in each case. This permission, however, does not carry with it any right or control over the bed named.

Memorial beds bearing the following names have been established :

SULLIVAN AMORY.
DOROTHY QUINCY.
GEORGE F. KIMBALL.
LOUISE JULIA TUCKER.
JESSIE PRESTON DRAPER.
SARAH ELIZA THACHER.
LIVINGSTON WADSWORTH.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Training School of The Children's Hospital was established fifteen years ago. Ten years ago there were fifteen pupils in the school, who took a two years' course and were paid eight and fifteen dollars per month. They lived in the Hospital, and were on duty in the wards from 5.45 A.M. to 8.00 P.M. A weekly class through the winter months was given, using Clara Weeks's text-book of nursing. The experience in the wards was limited to the care of orthopedic cases, with children from two to twelve years of age.

A few years later the addition of the medical wards and Out-Patient building afforded the nurses the opportunity of a wider experience.

In 1896 the course was lengthened to three years, and arrangements were made for special courses for third-year pupils at the Infants' Hospital and St. Margaret's Infirmary. At this time a carefully graded course of theoretical instruction was prepared. The first-year students received one hundred hours' teaching in anatomy and physiology, and weekly classes in nursing and demonstrations in practical work were given. In the second year the nursing classes were continued, and thirty lectures on medical and surgical subjects were given by the Staff, quizzes on each lecture being conducted by the Superintendent of Nurses; and it was found necessary to adopt an eight-hour system of practical work, in order to afford students time for increased study. These changes proved most satisfactory, the number of students increased, and it became necessary to provide a special home outside of the hospital. A house was taken on Gainsboro Street in 1896 for the incoming class of probationers. From this time the pupils received no monthly allowance, but board, laundry, and uniforms were provided.

Three additional houses have since been rented, thus affording ample room for the entire school. In the dormitory for Simmons students quiet rooms for study are provided, and in the main house there are parlors where students can receive their friends, enjoy music, teas, or any recreation they choose. A resident cooking teacher has been added to the teaching staff, and the pupils receive practical instruction in cooking and housekeeping.

In 1901 the admission of sick babies to the Hospital made it unnecessary to continue any longer sending the pupils to the Infants' Hospital. In the same year a four months' course at the Massachusetts General Hospital was substituted for that at St. Margaret's Infirmary.

In 1904 an arrangement was made with Simmons College whereby our students should take a special scientific course for four months during the probationary term. During this time pupils spend five or six hours daily at the College in lectures, recitations, and experimental work in the chemical and bacteriological laboratories, whose perfect equipment affords every advantage.

On Saturdays classes in ethics and hospital work are given, which keep the students in touch with the work to which they are looking forward.

The course at Simmons College is difficult, and only those having a high school diploma are able to take the examinations.

Students completing this course enter the Hospital ready for immediate instruction on medical and surgical subjects, which were formerly not given until the second year. They have shown greater aptitude for the work, grasping it more easily because of the foundation laid at the College.

About the same time the Simmons course was introduced the Corey Hill Hospital in Brookline offered us the opportunity of sending to them two or more senior pupils for a three months' service each. This course has proved of great value to the students. They not only enjoy the work, but benefit greatly by the broadening outlook given by this wholly different experience.

Thus twelve months are spent in courses outside of The Children's Hospital, and the two years of practical work remaining is divided as far as possible into the following periods: six months, medical work; three months, operating room; two months, out-patient department; three months, outdoor relief; three months, infants' ward; two months, diet kitchen; six months, orthopedic and general surgery.

The theoretical teaching has developed almost wholly into clinical instruction. The probationers are given twenty-five demonstrations by their instructor in practical ward work. Later a four months' series of clinics is given in the wards of the Hospital by a paid instructor.

The lectures by the Medical Staff include those on operating technique ; a course on the care of orthopedic cases ; a course on anæsthesia, plaster work, massage, and the special senses, — eye, ear, throat, nose, etc. Through the whole course weekly classes and demonstrations are given by a graduate nurse on ethics and all nursing subjects, including six lectures on a nurse's duty in private work.

During the last year return postals were sent to all graduates doing private work, asking how many weeks they had been employed and how many weeks idle. In the replies two weeks without employment was the longest time reported in any case, with the exception of voluntary vacations.

The demand for Children's Hospital graduates to fill institutional positions has in the past few years greatly exceeded the supply, though each year more of our graduate nurses are taking responsible positions in hospitals, schools, homes for crippled children, etc.

The points of especial interest in connection with the school to-day are : —

1. A preliminary scientific course of four months at Simmons College.

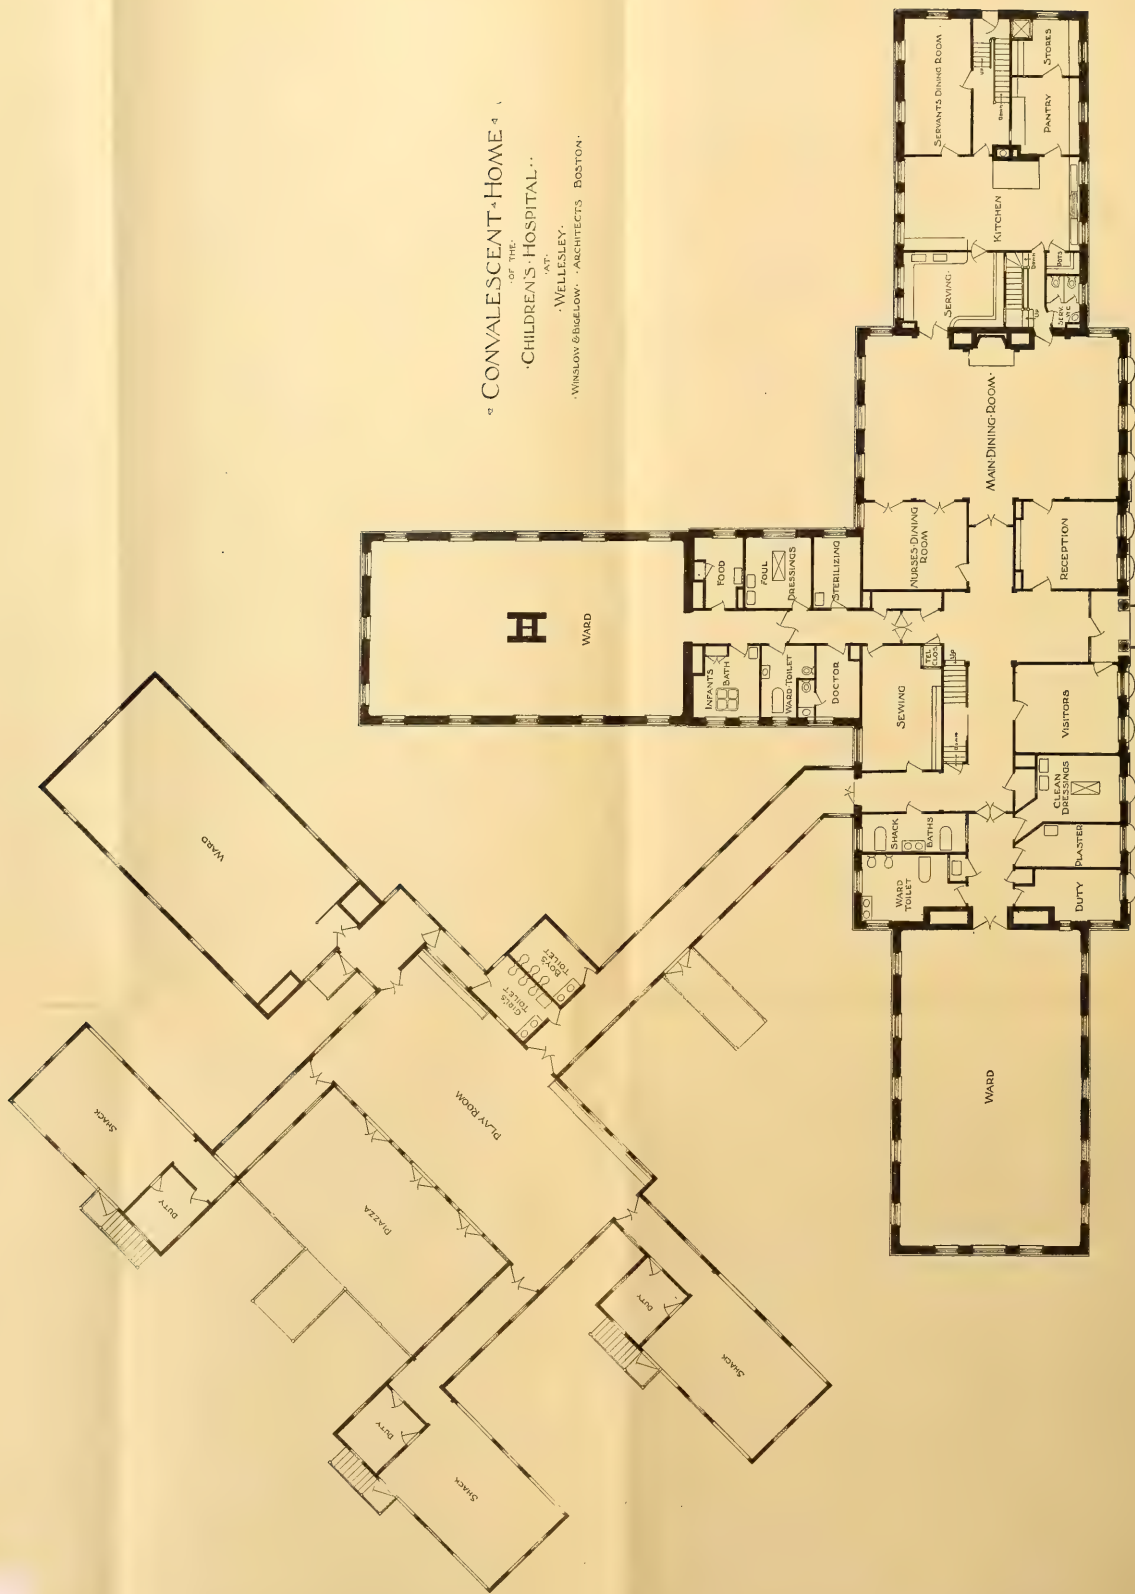

2. The eight-hour system, the nurses working in the wards eight hours out of the twenty-four.

3. The home life outside of the Hospital when off duty.

4. The steady employment assured to graduates.

The present Staff of the school consists of one Superintendent of Nurses, one Assistant Superintendent of Nurses, one Instructor Probationers, one Night Supervisor, Head Nurse of Out-Patient Department, Head Nurse of Outdoor Relief, Head Nurse of Operating Room, one resident Cooking Teacher, one Instructor Massage, one Clinical Instructor.

Whereas ten years ago students were paid to work twelve hours daily in the wards, now students pay a tuition fee and there are five resident teachers and three special outside paid instructors.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-first Annual Report. The past year has been a busy and anxious one, but it is a pleasure to announce that the new Home at Wellesley Hills has been opened with sixty children to begin with, and room for forty more when it is felt that the management can afford to receive them.

The formal opening took place on the 24th of October, with a short and simple service of dedication by Bishop Lawrence, and was attended by a large number of friends who came from Boston and adjoining towns to show their interest and sympathy in the work.

Afternoon tea was served and everybody was invited to inspect the Home from cellar to attic, and all agreed in expressing approval of the simple, unadorned, and wholly practical character of the building. The visitors were especially interested in the shacks, or wooden unplastered sheds, built in accordance with the plans of several doctors, in order to carry out as far as possible the fresh-air treatment so often applied of late in adult cases for the cure of tuberculous and nervous diseases. One of these shacks is the large playroom, the whole front of which consists of glass sliding-doors opening on to a sunny, uncovered piazza. Here the kindergarten teacher comes three times a week, and no baby is too small and no patient too helpless to take some real or fancied part in the pretty plays provided.

Miss Brooke, the efficient and faithful head-nurse for many years, having left, Miss Davidson is now in charge, with Miss Robinson and Miss Rainsford as assistants.

Thanks to the kindness of one of the Managers, the grounds of the Home have been attractively planted and improved by a landscape gardener, and several hundred small pines have been set out to serve the double purpose of a screen from the road and a pleasure grove for the patients in the future. The Managers wish to express to Messrs. Winslow & Bigelow, Architects, and to their assistants, Messrs. Walker & Leach, to Mr. Stephen Child, landscape gardener, and to Mr. Joseph W. Peabody, real estate agent of Wellesley, their hearty appreciation of the interest they have shown in the Home and the work they have accomplished there.

During the past year 338 children have been admitted, with a daily average of 53, against an average of 29 in 1904, before the new building was completed.

Some of the surgical cases are kept for many weeks, and even months, in order to build up the strength of the patients before returning them to their homes. Although the new Home has been built within the sum so liberally subscribed by its many warm friends, yet its increased size and the greater number of children cared for necessarily involve a corresponding increase in all the current expenses, such as lighting, heating, care of the house and grounds, a larger staff of nurses and servants, and a special night-engineer for the furnaces. Therefore the Managers will feel the necessity of soon making their annual appeal to the generosity which has never failed them yet. The doctors and surgeons of the Hospital have as usual kept the patients under systematic supervision, visiting them regularly every week. To them and to Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley the Managers would express their thanks; also to the Sisters of St. Margaret, whose unfailing devotion to both Hospital and Home can never be fully estimated.

The Managers provide the Hospital in Boston as well as the Home in Wellesley Hills with all the clothing, boots, and shoes for the children; jackets and aprons for the surgeons; and all bed and table-linen, as well as bandages. The weekly meetings for cutting out this work began in November at the Hospital, under the direction of the Vice-President, Mrs. Davis, who beside many of the Managers has a corps of volunteers to assist her. Last year more than 14,000 pieces of work were prepared and given out to friends of the Managers and poor women to be finished.

Before closing this Report the Managers wish to speak of the great loss which came to them during the year in the death of Mrs. Arthur Amory, who was for more than twenty years a valued and beloved member of their Board. The memory of her unfailing interest and sympathy, and her charming personality, will live in the hearts of her friends.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary.

REPORT OF THE BUILDING COMMITTEE.

THE Building Committee was appointed at the meeting of the Managers on February 2, 1903, for the purpose of superintending the work connected with the erection of the new Home. The Committee consisted of the President, the Vice-President, Mrs. Amory, Mrs. Shaw, and Mrs. Monks.

This Committee held its first meeting on March 11, 1903. All the members were present, as were also Mr. Gordon Abbott, representing the Trustees of the Hospital, and Dr. Brackett, representing the Medical Staff. Mrs. Monks was appointed secretary. At this meeting it was unanimously agreed that the firm of Winslow and Bigelow be asked to furnish plans and to undertake the work of constructing the new buildings. Dr. Brackett strongly urged that provision be made for a larger number of patients than the old home would accommodate. On June 1 the perfected plans were submitted by the architects and were approved by the Committee. On July 8 the estimates for the entire work, amounting to $150,000, were received. As these estimates were much higher than the Committee had expected, and as it was thought that these plans could not be modified so as to materially lower the estimates, it was Voted: "That an appeal be inserted in the daily papers asking for an additional $60,000, and that further consideration of the plans be deferred until the result of the appeal is known."

Later, however, the President directed that the publication of this appeal should be postponed, for the reason that she had requested the physicians of the Hospital, through Dr. Bradford, to make investigations as to the best method of caring for tuberculous patients in a convalescent home, and to report to her. At a subsequent meeting it was Voted: "That the President be upheld in her action of directing the Secretary to delay issuing the general appeal." A report from

Drs. Bradford and Burrell, being the conclusions of the Committee to investigate the subject of the care of tuberculous patients, was then read.

It was decided to present this report to the Board of Managers at their October meeting. As a result of this report it was determined to build at once, at the temporary Home, one shack, in order to try the effect on some of the children of fresh-air treatment, and if this treatment proved to be beneficial, to make such alterations in the plans as would provide accommodations for a greater number of patients in the shacks. Finally, in January, it was voted that a new set of plans be drawn, and that it be recommended to the Board that $100,000 be spent in erecting the new buildings and shacks. The Managers agreed to these recommendations, and on June 28, 1904, the new plans were approved. It was then voted that the work of draining the land and arranging the system of sewerage be started at once. Building was begun in August, 1904, though the ceremony connected with the placing of the corner-stone did not take place till November 7. On September 25, 1905, the children were moved into the new Home, which was at that time practically finished.

In addition to the business done at the regular meeting of the Committee, a great deal of work has been accomplished by the President and individual members of the Committee in considering the various problems as they arose and in superintending the work.

They wish to make special mention of the great assistance they received in making their final decisions and in overseeing the work, from Messrs. Bigelow, Walker and Leach, Sister Caroline, and also from Mr. Bird.

As the building is now completed, and as the purpose for which the Building Committee was appointed no longer requires its attention, your Committee respectfully begs to be discharged.

OLGA E. MONKS,
Secretary of Building Committee.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

THE report of the work at the Convalescent Home may perhaps be supplemented by a short description of the surgical aspect of the work, especially in regard to the very important part of the out-door treatment of bone tuberculosis which is being carried on here.

When the former Convalescent Home was destroyed by fire three years ago, the Managers of the institution adopted the suggestion to deal with convalescent cases of bone tuberculosis by the open-air treatment, and a certain number of patients were placed in a shack, with free openings to the outer air, which was erected near the house hired for the temporary Convalescent Home. The results of the open-air treatment provided for these delicate children have been most remarkable, and a marked increase of weight and in the percentage of the blood coloring matter followed the change from the wards of the Hospital to the open-air shacks. The simple fact that a gain in flesh, in a non-selected number of patients, of one pound a week followed the transference of the children from the wards of a hospital in the city is significant.

It must be remembered that these children were not taken directly from the slums or tenement houses, but had for many weeks received the best of care and of food which the intown hospital could furnish. They were then taken to the Convalescent Home and given the benefit of the open-air treatment, not simply during a few hours in the day, but both night and day. Not only did the weight and the blood coloring show an improvement, but the local progress of the disease was, in a majority of cases, markedly influenced for good, and certain cases, where more than one joint was affected, reached a stage of improvement which would have been believed impossible under former conditions of treatment.

In the new Convalescent Home open-air shacks have been provided, and the Home, as at present planned, can take care of one hundred children; with a comparatively small additional outlay the institution would be enabled to take care of a greatly increased number. The fact that some ten thousand cases of joint tuberculosis have been treated at the Hospital in the last thirty years may indicate the frequency of this affection. It is of great interest to have established the fact that even in this latitude it is possible, and advisable, to keep children with tuberculosis of the joints, such as hip disease, out of doors day and night, winter and summer, — a fact which has for a long time been recognized in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis. The working out of the matter is not only of great benefit to the individual children, but has an obvious educational effect on the community at large.

The usefulness of the Hospital and the scope of its work has been immensely increased by the development of the Convalescent Home. With its perfect equipment it is now possible to send patients convalescing from operations out of the wards at an earlier date than would otherwise be possible, and as has been mentioned, they are thus placed in a more favorable condition for progress. It is reasonable to expect that the development of this, as of all modern children's hospitals, will be in the line of accentuating the importance of a convalescent home and of making the hospital in the city more of an acute hospital for operative cases.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

OF

THE · BOARD OF MANAGERS.

THE Managers of The Children's Hospital present their thirty-eighth annual report to the corporation and have again to call attention to the annual deficit. This past year we have spent in the maintenance of the hospital $16,967.75 more than we have received from the income of our investments, annual subscriptions and donations, receipts from the board of paying patients, sale of surgical appliances, drugs, tuition, fees of the training school, and other similar sources of income at the hospital. This deficit has had to be met from the unrestricted legacies and gifts which have been received. All these unrestricted legacies and gifts should be reserved to meet the expenses of erecting a new hospital, on the land adjoining the Harvard Medical School, which is so urgently needed.

Our present building is utterly inadequate to the demands made upon it, and every exertion should be made to raise the considerable amount of money necessary for the new building. While we cannot too highly commend the services rendered by the members of the medical and surgical staff and their assistants, by the superintendent, the nurses and all those connected with the administration of the hospital, which produce such admirable results in curing and alleviating disease and pain, it is not right that these unselfish and devoted persons should be forced to do their work with the handicap of an outgrown and out-of-date hospital building. No more worthy object of charity and none more needy can be found in this city than our institution, and now that the new Medical School has been opened we are doubly anxious to utilize the land which we have acquired adjoining it, by erecting thereon a modern hospital building suitably equipped for caring for diseased children.

We are enjoying the advantage of the rebuilt Convalescent Home at Wellesley and an arrangement has been made with the Boston Elevated Railway Company by which a special car is provided once a week to transport the children to Wellesley, a great convenience, for which we express our thanks to the company.

During the congress of the American Medical Association, held in Boston last June, the attending members of the profession were invited to the hospital. The members of the medical and surgical staffs were in attendance from 9 A. M. until 5 P. M. and gave to the visitors the opportunity to inspect the conduct of the work in the wards, to see the operations during each forenoon, and to attend the out-patient department while the clinics were in operation. A series of X-rays — several hundred in number — representing in groups the classes of diseases treated in the institution was daily on exhibition during the term of the congress. A large number of the profession, from different parts of the United States, availed themselves of this opportunity to become acquainted with the work of the institution.

Sister Caroline has become mother superior of the Sisters of St. Margaret and we have consequently lost her services as superintendent, a position which she has filled for many years with great ability and success, having been a model incumbent of the office. We are happy to say that, although no longer officially connected with us, she continues to take an active interest in the hospital and we can still look to her for good counsel and assistance. Her place has been filled by Sister Katharine of the same order, who assumed the duties of the office in November.

We gratefully acknowledge the receipt of the following legacies during the year: Estate of Laura D. Townsend, $3000; estate of Helen G. Coburn, $49,816; estate of Elizabeth B. Bailey, $3000; estate of Marcia A. Norris, $5000; estate of William T. Bolton, $500. We have also received from Wallace L. Pierce $1500, for three memorial beds to commemorate the following-named children: Teresa Pierce, Rosamond Freeman, and Ellen Maria Pierce.

We append the reports of the different departments and again commend the character of the work and the need of its financial support to all who are charitably minded.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

THE medical side of the Hospital has grown to such an extent that its present quarters are entirely inadequate to provide for those who could be benefited by treatment in the wards, and it is a continued complaint on the part of the assistant physicians that they are unable to admit to the wards cases which should be treated at once, and which cannot be placed on a waiting list.

Adults are being cared for, throughout the city and state, in the best possible way, ample means being provided for their reception in the hospitals, and it is contrary to all ideas of right, and of humanity, that young children should have to be refused admission to The Children's Hospital, where their lives would probably be saved if they could be received. This matter cannot be too strongly impressed upon the public, and it is earnestly to be hoped that it will receive the hearty and helpful recognition of those who are interested in the welfare of children.

Much work has been done in the medical wards during the past year with the Röntgen Ray, and both the excellence and value of this work should be recognized, as it is one of the means which makes correct diagnosis in obscure cases more possible and helps in the determination of the appropriate treatment.

The increasing importance of the Hospital as an educational centre should also be emphasized, not only in the opportunity for study in the wards given to physicians and medical students, but in the increased amount of instruction given to the nurses belonging to the training school connected with the Hospital. This teaching of nurses, which was formerly carried on mostly through text-books and lectures, is now in great part given directly in the wards, by the bedside. It is manifestly for the interests of the nurses, the patients, and the community that this clinical instruction should be developed as much as possible, and herein is another reason for increasing the accommodations of the Hospital and thus amplifying the good which it can do.

GENERAL SURGICAL SERVICE.

THE Surgeons of the Hospital desire first to express their gratitude to the Officers and Managers of the Convalescent Home. By utilizing to the utmost the beds at the new home for the care of the convalescent patients it has at last become possible to admit to the Hospital, usually with reasonable promptness, the more urgent cases. This result has been attained, however, only by the utmost diligence in the prompt treatment and equally prompt transfer of the patients from the Hospital after operation. The work at once becomes seriously hampered if at any time an unusual number of beds are occupied by children so sick as to require prolonged hospital care, or if for any reason it becomes impossible for the Home to take the children from the Hospital. There is furthermore every reason to expect that the growth of the demands on the Hospital will soon compel the same delays in the admission of patients as in the past.

The need for more surgical beds for babies is often very pressing. The lack of facilities for the proper care of those babies upon whom operative interference is imperative is a serious handicap.

The severe tax upon the Out-Patient facilities is shown by the fact that during the year 4311 patients have been treated on 203 days, an average of over twenty-one patients a day seen in two small unventilated rooms within a few hours, and including among them the patients upon whom operations have been necessary.

During the past year the increased use of the Hospital for instruction has been a very striking feature. Undergraduate students in the Harvard Medical School now receive regular instruction in the wards and Out-Patient Department in the general surgical diseases of children. They also act as regular assistants in the Out-Patient Department. Furthermore surgeons from all over the country have during the past year come to the Hospital for graduate study of the same subject.

ORTHOPEDIC DEPARTMENT.

THE work of the Orthopedic Service in the wards has progressed in the customary lines with a continuation of the lines for which the Hospital stands in the conservative treatment of Tuberculous Joint disease.

The most marked progress of scientific and practical interest has been made in the three following conditions :

In Congenital Dislocation of the hip greater precision in operation has been obtained with an improvement in after treatment and a considerable improvement in the ultimate results. The use of mechanical force has been still further developed to assist manual manipulation and the results have been carefully checked by the X-Ray.

The treatment as now pursued may be regarded as representative of the most modern, efficient, and advanced type.

In the treatment of Infantile Paralysis by tendon transplantation further progress has been made in the development of operative technique, especially in the use of artificial silk tendons, and the results of operation in this group of cases have been more satisfactory than ever before.

The treatment of chronic joint disease by hyperæmia has been used by means of suction, baking, and passive congestion with gratifying results, especially in the cases of chronic non-tuberculous joint disease. In some of these cases the results have been really brilliant.

The statistical collection of the ultimate results of operation has been undertaken in Wry Neck, where a high percentage of good results has been found to follow the division of the contracted muscle. These conclusions have not yet been published. A similar inquiry is under way relating to the results of operation in Club Foot.

The results of operation in tendon transplantation have been investigated and published, and similarly the experience in treatment of chronic joint disease by hyperæmia has been presented to the medical profession.

The service is still hampered by the lack of ward accommodation, a long waiting list of cases requiring operation being at most times existent, and many of these patients can ill afford to wait their turn of admission. When they are sent for, perhaps weeks after their application for admission, they have drifted away and fail to respond.

LATERAL CURVATURE CLINIC.

THE year in the Lateral Curvature Clinic has been most satisfactory and productive. The number of cases taken under treatment has been considerably reduced from last year for the purpose of giving better individual attention to each patient, and as a result the waiting list has grown to an alarming proportion. We were faced by the alternative of treating a small number of patients efficiently or a larger number inefficiently, and we have not taken under treatment more cases than we have thought we could properly handle. The more severe cases are required to work two hours daily at every clinic (4 days weekly) under the supervision of one teacher, and it is obvious that no large number of cases can be treated if this amount of individual attention is to be given.

Gymnastic Class work has been reduced as inefficient, and fewer cases have been assigned gymnastic work to be done at home, as it was frequently carelessly done and consequently of less value than careful work at the Hospital. All these factors have reduced the number of cases under treatment and increased the number of applicants.

The gymnastic assistants at the clinic have been furnished as last year by the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, under the supervision of a most efficient teacher who directs the gymnastic work under the direction of the assistant Surgeon in charge. These gymnastic assistants receive from the Surgeons weekly clinical instruction in the subject of lateral curvature, and as these assistants after graduation go to all parts of the country, it is an important extension of the influence of the Hospital.

The Boston Normal School of Gymnastics imported during the year from Zurich the Schulthus measuring machine for recording lateral curvature; this is the only one in the United States, and has proved of great assistance in recording and defining the characteristics of the deformity and will aid in presenting our results more accurately to the profession. The apparatus is installed at the Hospital and is in daily use.

The co-operation of the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics has been of the greatest value to the clinic, and the results obtained in the last year have been decidedly in advance of any previous year. The number of cases to be thoroughly and properly treated cannot, however, be any larger in our present quarters than at present.

Total number visits	4242
Old cases	4150
New cases	92
Number receiving treatment at present . . .	68
Structural cases	30
Postural cases and round shoulders	38
Average number old cases treated per day .	28

REPORT OF THROAT DEPARTMENT.

THE appended table shows the usual annual increase in the number of patients attending the clinic and in the amount of operative work done. The marked increase in the number of operations for hypertrophied faucial and pharyngeal tonsils is due in great part to the larger number of cases now referred to us as a result of better medical inspection in the public schools, and is a good indication of the growing appreciation on the part of the community of the necessity for the removal of these structures in so many children who would otherwise be physically handicapped.

More individual patients were seen in this department than in any other one department of the Hospital, with the single exception of the Medical Out-Patient Department. There is a real need for enlarged facilities in caring for these patients, especially in respect to larger rooms for their reception and examination. The clinic is often badly crowded, and has outgrown its present quarters.

The figures for the years ending respectively on December 28, 1905, and December 28, 1906, are as follows:—

	1905	1906
Number of new patients . . .	1193	1247
Total number of visits made . .	1907	2397
Number of operations performed .	332	441

In 1906 the following operations were performed : —

On Tonsils and Adenoids	416
On Deviations of the Nasal Septum	13
On Nasal Polypi	2
On Fracture of Nasal Bones	1
On Papilloma of the Larynx	3
On Cyst of the Larynx	1
On Foreign Body in the Trachea	1
On Stricture of the Œsophagus	1
On Tongue Tie	1
Tracheotomy	2
Total	441

OUT-PATIENT DEPARTMENT.

IN the Out-Patient Department the work of the Orthopedic Service has gone on much as usual, the attempt has been made to make the treatment in all directions as precise and efficient as possible ; especially in the application of plaster jackets for Potts Disease greater accuracy has been obtained and in the more efficient after-treatment of operative Club Foot. No more striking evidence of progress can be given than the diminution of abscesses in chronic tuberculous joint disease of the hip and spine.

Instruction has been given through the year not only to students in the Harvard Medical School, but to graduates from various parts of the country, and during the meeting of the American Medical Association in Boston in June, 1906, the Hospital operations and clinics were attended by nearly 1,000 visiting medical men.

The presentation of Hospital experience both to the medical profession by means of written articles and to undergraduates by means of instruction is to be considered an important part of the Hospital's function, as thereby the community at large reaps a great benefit from the work here carried on.

THE PATHOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

Specimens of Tissue Examined	109
Bacteriological Examinations :
General	335
Throat	288
Dressings, Sutures, etc.	84
Blood Cultures	15
Autopsies	28

Each year the work of this department has increased, and its usefulness to the Visiting Staff and House Officers is becoming more evident.

The large number of throat cultures examined is not due to any increase in the number of cases of diphtheria, but rather to a successful attempt to prevent any spread of the disease.

Though there have been fewer autopsies this year, they have been of much value in teaching the students and nurses and elucidating the cause of some of the obscure cases. A few of these cases of unusual interest are now being published.

The Blood Cultures, that have been made, form the basis of a recently published paper. Inoculation experiments showing the presence of tuberculosis in sixteen out of twenty-seven cases have been of much value in diagnosis and treatment.

The value of both this and the X-Ray Department might be much greater if there were an opportunity to obtain more post-mortem examinations in the cases of tuberculous and other bone diseases.

ROENTGEN RAY DEPARTMENT.

THE past year has emphasized the importance of this relatively new department of the Hospital, in the assistance it has been to the physicians and surgeons, both in the Hospital and Out-Patient Department, in their observation and diagnosis of disease.

It has been the aim of the department to assist rather than replace any known means of examination by the use of the Roentgen Ray earlier to make the diagnoses either positive or negative in any given condition, and consequently the treatment more accurate.

It is gratifying to see how each department of the Hospital has used the Roentgen Ray to its advantage.

It is desired that the friends of the Hospital become interested in this department, and by this means further its needs in securing the needed apparatus and assistance.

The exhibit of this department at the meeting of The American Medical Association was a credit to the Hospital.

Radiographs taken during the year 1906, 1360; 1905, 843. (Including cases in which negative results were obtained and no diagnosis made.)

Below is appended a table of radiographs classed under pathological conditions.

OUT-DOOR RELIEF DEPARTMENT.

THE work of this department is the care of such patients as are too sick to attend the Clinics, yet do not require admission to the Hospital Wards. The work is in charge of a graduate nurse who has taken in addition a special course at the School for Social Workers.

She is assisted by a third-year pupil nurse from the Training School. This gives a valuable training to the pupil and allows the visiting nurse time to study the families and to assist them in many ways. She becomes their friend and adviser, gains their confidence, and learns their needs and resources. Sometimes a relative is found who will help by taking the children who are well, leaving the mother free to care for the sick child.

On visiting one child the mother was found to have tuberculosis; her case was referred to the Society for the Relief and Control of Tuberculosis. Several families have been referred to the Associated Charities.

We are indebted to the Boston Elevated Railway Co. for 200 tickets. The car rides were of great benefit to the children, and some mothers were able to spend a day at a time with their children at the seashore or in the country.

A group of young ladies from the Central Church have given valuable aid as volunteer visitors. Each visitor has one family which she visits at frequent intervals. The visits are much appreciated by the families, and are continued when visits from the nurse are no longer necessary.

In all 130 families have been visited and 1780 visits made by this department.

THE TRAINING SCHOOL FOR NURSES.

THE Training School presents the following report of its sixteenth year: —

The work of the School has increased steadily until now the course includes training in General Surgical, Orthopedic, Medical, and Infant Nursing, including preparation and giving of infant foods. Our Out-Patient Department affords wide scope for Dispensary work, and the Out-Door Relief, under trained supervision, thoroughly fits a nurse for District duty, the need of which has long been felt. The Nurses' Home is situated on Gainsboro Street, near but not connected with the Hospital. It consists of four houses which give ample room for the entire School, one being given up to the Simmons students, where quiet study rooms are provided. In the main house are parlors where students can receive their friends, enjoy music, teas, or any recreation they choose.

The pupils, preferably between the ages of twenty and thirty, are received. Board and laundry are provided. A small tuition fee is charged each year. The demand for Children's Hospital graduates to fill institutional positions has in the past few years greatly exceeded the supply, though each year more of our graduate nurses are taking responsible positions in hospitals, schools, homes for crippled children, etc.

There have been 230 applicants to the Training School, an excess of 61 over any previous year. Twenty-five have been received as probationers, eight of whom have not been accepted. Six nurses graduated during the year. The present staff consists of a Superintendent of Nurses, an Assistant Superintendent, one Night Supervisor, two Day Supervisors, three graduate Head Nurses, and an Instructor in Cooking. Pupil Nurses, third year, 13; second year, 5; first year, 6. Simmons students, 11; Probationers, 9. Three students were dropped and one resigned on account of ill health.

Very few changes have been made in the curriculum. The valuable course given at Simmons College enables the students to make more progress in medical studies, so that, at the end of eight months, they receive the instruction which was formerly given after the fifteenth month. The teaching is almost wholly clinical, supplemented by theoretical work on the course, and examinations are held at the end of each course, as formerly. The four-months' nursing at the Massachusetts General Hospital and the three-months' at the Corey Hill Hospital still continue, and are of great benefit in giving the pupil nurses practical experience in adult and in private nursing.

The points of especial interest in connection with the School to-day are : —

1. A preliminary scientific course of four months at Simmons College.
2. The eight-hour system, the nurse working in the wards eight hours out of the twenty-four.
3. The home life outside of the Hospital when off duty.
4. The steady employment assured to graduates.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-Second Annual Report.

It is now a little more than a year since the new Home has been running (it will be remembered that the original building was destroyed by fire in January, 1903, and the record shows a steady increase in the work and consequently in the expenses of the Institution.

A few necessary and important changes and improvements have been made and the work has gone on methodically and smoothly under the efficient guidance of Miss Davidson and her assistants, who in turn are under the supervision of the Superintendent of The Children's Hospital.

A few times it has been necessary to close the doors to newcomers when contagious diseases such as measles, whooping-cough, and scarlet fever have broken out; and in this connection it may be said that it was found necessary to limit the large number of Sunday visitors who were in the habit of going to see the patients, chiefly parents who brought their entire families with them, thereby greatly increasing the danger of contagious diseases at the Home. The experience of all hospitals shows that it is wise to make some charge for the board and care of patients, therefore those who have the means are asked to pay at the Home the same amount as that charged at the Hospital. No poor child however is turned away, but is received and treated free of charge, or for whatever small sum the parent may feel able to give.

The Home is under regular supervision of a doctor from the Hospital, who goes there once a week and sends in reports to the heads of the various departments. In case of any sudden illness or emergency, Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley is summoned, and thanks are due to him for his prompt and ready assistance on several occasions.

The heating, plumbing, and lighting plant is also under supervision of the firm of Densmore and Leclear, who make about eight visits in the year at unstated intervals. In their report they have commended the foreman and engineer for their conscientious and efficient care of the furnaces. The heating of the shacks forms no small part of the added expenses, as it takes an average of two tons of coal per day to feed the fires. The Trustees of the Hospital pay for a special electric car which carries a load of sick children to the Home every week, weather permitting, in care of a house-surgeon and trained nurse. The patients are met at Wellesley Hills by the foreman of the Home, who also has a load of convalescents who are sent back on the same car to the Hospital, where they are examined by the doctors before being despatched to their own homes.

The Managers and a corps of volunteer helpers under the direction of the Vice President, Mrs. Davis, meet each week during the winter at the Hospital, for the purpose of cutting out and preparing the large amount of work needed for use in both Hospital and Home.

This work is given out to be finished to friends of the Managers and to poor women. It comprises all the bed and table-linen, towels, bandages, jackets and aprons for the surgeons, and all the clothing, boots and shoes for the children.

The Managers also give Christmas trees to both Institutions, and when they went to the Home to help celebrate the Christmas festival there, each one was pleasantly surprised by a gift, carefully made, signed and tied up by the Kindergarten Children. The work of this Class is very successful. It was started as an experiment in October, 1905, and now those in charge feel that they could hardly do without it, because of the real benefit it is to the children in keeping them interested and pleasantly occupied four times a week.

To the Sisters of St. Margaret the Managers offer earnest thanks for their constant and unfailing devotion to the Hospital and Home.

An important change has been made this year at the Hospital and Sister Katharine is now Superintendent instead of Sister Caroline, who has been elected Superior of the Order of St. Margaret and was obliged to give up the position which she has held with so much ability and honor for many years. The work of the Hospital and Home is so closely connected as to be nearly identical, so that her influence for good was almost equally felt in both Institutions.

A comparison of the following tables will show to those interested the growth of the work in the year 1906.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Sunday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

DEPARTMENT FOR OUT-PATIENTS.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

Two years ago the Managers adopted the plan of including in their annual report on the work of The Children's Hospital brief statements from members of the staff, giving information as to the work done by the Hospital, the idea being that in this way people interested in the work of The Children's Hospital could get information about what was going on there more accurately and more adequately than they could from any statement which the Managers themselves might make. These statements from the staff were planned not to be scientific papers, interesting only to doctors, but practical statements for the information of laymen. In continuing this purpose it has seemed advisable, for the sake of avoiding repetition, to make these statements only every second year; this accounts for their omission from the present report.

The experience of the past year has shown even more clearly than that of the preceding years the fact that the work of the Hospital is being done satisfactorily only at an increasingly greater expenditure of money and of effort. The present building, now more than twenty years old, was built before many of the more important discoveries in medical and surgical science were made and when the number of patients was much smaller; it is getting old and the expenditure needed for repairs becomes greater as the years go on.

As everyone familiar with the affairs of the Hospital for the last two or three years is aware, the Hospital owns a site for a new building adjoining the land of the new Harvard Medical School. This was bought with the idea of putting up a new and modern hospital. Since that purchase the general financial conditions have not been favorable to the raising of sufficient money for building and for the establishment of an endowment the income of which should be sufficient to insure the proper conduct of the Hospital work.

The importance to the work now being done by the Children's Hospital of a new and adequate building, and a sufficient endowment would be hard to over-estimate, and the Managers unite in urging all persons who are interested in the progress of such work as that to which this Hospital is devoted to do everything that they can, both by their individual subscriptions and their effort in awakening the interest of other persons, to make a new hospital possible.

The Managers wish to express their sense of deep obligation to the members of the staff for the self-sacrifice and skill which have given the Hospital its present high standard, and for the patience shown by them in doing their work under the trying conditions which the present building makes unavoidable.

The Managers also wish to express their deep sense of obligation to the Sisters of St. Margaret for their devotion to the interests of the Hospital, and for the skill which they have displayed in its care and management.

We also beg to acknowledge gratefully the receipt of the following bequests and gifts in memory of deceased persons: from Charles H. Draper, $500; estate of Charles E. French, $500; Mr. and Mrs. James C. Melvin, $500; estate of Abbie J. Stearns, $2,000; estate of Charles Merriam, $2,500; estate of James D. Lincoln, $2,000; estate of Sarah E. Potter, $98,332.50; estate of Lyman Nichols, $5,000; estate of Helen G. Coburn, $84.50; estate of Louisa Goddard Perkins, $3285.84; George A. Chapman, $500; the brother and sister of Robert Pearce Williams, $500.

THE SCHOOL OF NURSING.

THIS school, now in its seventeenth year, has shown satisfactory progress in the last year; it gives special and general training in all branches required, together with instruction in adult nursing, as well as in children's nursing, by its association with the Massachusetts General Hospital and the Corey Hill Private Hospital. Its affiliation with the Boston Lying-in Hospital and with Simmons College is also of importance.

Applicants between the ages of nineteen and thirty are eligible, provided that they have had a high school education or its equivalent. Students are received three times a year and after a trial to find out if they are satisfactory, they take a four months' course at Simmons College, which is given twice a year. The experiment of sending them first to Simmons College before being tried as probationers was not altogether satisfactory, as students who passed excellent examinations were not always fitted for nursing, and such a move seemed unfair both to the Hospital and to the students. The present arrangement has the advantage of testing their general adaptability before putting them through the Simmons College course. The work at Simmons College is no longer experimental. It has proved itself invaluable and the students appreciate it more and more. It has been found that in this way they have a clearer idea of the whole field and more easily obtain a comprehensive knowledge of the instruction given later. After the three years' course the diplomas of the school are signed by the Managers and Staff of The Children's Hospital; they are also signed by President Lefavour of Simmons College, the Superintendent of Nurses at the Massachusetts General Hospital, and the Superintendent of Nurses at the Corey Hill Hospital; a separate diploma for the course at the Boston Lying-in Hospital is given. A graduate can, therefore, register in any part of the country and take any position.

The list of applicants has increased steadily, giving us more scope in the choice of the best material, the last year showing the largest number of applicants yet received. The students live in comfortable houses on Gainsboro Street, very near the Hospital, under the supervision of the Superintendent of Nurses. Board and hospital laundry are supplied and the students work eight hours out of the twenty-four, affording them ample time for study, rest, and recreation.

The tuition fee of one hundred dollars, which includes the course at Simmons College, is payable when the nurse enters upon the Simmons College course, and each nurse pays an additional fee of fifty dollars at the beginning of the second and third years. These fees are distinctly tuition fees and are used exclusively for paying the best instructors in various departments.

Dr. John Dane, who has always taken a keen interest in the school and to whom we owe many thanks, gives a course of lectures on orthopedic surgery. Courses in surgery are given by Dr. J. S. Stone, on exanthemata by Dr. John Lovett Morse, on Infant Feeding by Dr. Maynard Ladd, medical lectures and bedside clinics by Dr. C. Hunter Dunn, theoretical and practical urinalyses by Dr. H. C. Low. The third year class receive special lectures as follows: Dr. H. L. Morse on the ear, Dr. S. W. Langmaid on the nose and throat, Dr. E. E. Jack on the eye, and Dr. J. T. Bowen on the skin. Much of the progress of the school is due to Dr. Robert Lovett's suggestions and unceasing efforts in arranging our most valuable courses and giving us his hearty co-operation at all times.

The examinations of the nurses are conducted by the members of the Senior Staff, who all take a great interest in the progress and work of the school. The fact that our nurses are practically sure of steady employment from the time that they graduate is the best proof that, in making this effort for the thorough education of nurses, we are supplying a want that the community requires, and it gives us the best ground for feeling that the nurses are not over-educated or under-educated, in that they seem to meet a practical want.

Before closing the Superintendent of Nurses wishes to extend her thanks to the corps of resident teachers and supervisors, who have so faithfully and patiently maintained the standard of the school and taught day by day in the various departments, Miss I. C. Smith in the Out Patient Department, Miss Margaret Woodworth in all the wards and classroom, and Miss L. J. Tuttle in charge of the operating room; for it is due to their hearty co-operation that the thorough and constant daily teaching and supervision have been done.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-third Annual Report.

The number of children treated during the year was 739, an increase of 104 over 1906, with a daily average of 51. Contagious diseases have as usual broken out in mild forms from time to time, causing the temporary closing of the doors, but as a rule the health of the patients has been wonderfully good, responding quickly to the excellent treatment and fresh country air. The Kindergarten work which was started two years ago is now regarded as indispensable, because the actual benefit to health derived from the amusing occupations and games is evident to all.

A nominal charge is made for the board and care of each patient, as the experience of all hospitals shows that it is wise to do so, but it is hardly necessary to say that no poor child is turned away because of inability on the part of parent or guardian to pay.

The patients are sent out from the Hospital once a week in care of a house-surgeon and trained nurse in a special electric car provided by the Hospital Trustees, and are met at Wellesley Hills by the foreman of the Home, who brings with him a load of convalescents who return in the car to the Hospital, where they are examined by the doctors before being returned to their own homes.

Unusually heavy expenses have had to be met during the year, as the drainage system proved utterly inadequate, necessitating many expensive changes and additions. It is now under the supervision of Messrs. Densmore and Leclear, who already have under regular inspection the heating, lighting, and plumbing plants. Another expense was the building of a large pavilion or covered piazza attached to one of the shacks, which has been of inestimable value to the patients during the summer months. The resources of the Institution not being sufficient to cover expenses, it has been necessary to keep two of the shacks unoccupied, to the regret of the managers as well as the doctors, who are more desirous each year of sending tubercular cases for the open-air treatment. The work increases steadily, and notwithstanding generous bequests and gifts, the annual expenditure is always in excess of the income, so that an appeal for help is unavoidable each year. A Permanent Fund was recently started with two donations given for that special purpose, and any addition to this fund, an increase of annual subscribers, or gifts of money, no matter how small, are urgently solicited.

The Home as well as the Hospital is under the supervision of the Sisters of St. Margaret, for whose generous and unfailing devotion the Managers wish to express their gratitude. Miss Davidson, the head nurse as well as housekeeper, has most ably fulfilled her duties, with two assistant trained nurses, Miss Dacey and Miss Eddy, and a corps of other nurses and ward-maids. Miss Robinson, a former assistant and a most intelligent and executive worker, was obliged to leave in the autumn, to the regret of her associates. Every week the Home is regularly visited by doctors and surgeons from the Hospital, and the nurses also are sent from there. In cases of sudden illness Dr. Bancroft of Wellesley very kindly gives his services.

The Managers, with about twenty volunteer helpers, meet once a week during the winter at the Hospital to cut out work, comprising all the bed and table linen, towels, bandages, surgeons' jackets and aprons, and clothing for the children in the Hospital and Home. A special committee of two oversees this work, which is finally given to poor women to be finished. Last year the number of articles made amounted to 4857.

During the year the Home has met with a great loss in the resignation of Mrs. E. L. Davis as Vice-President, which office she has held since 1892, and she was the first Treasurer of the Home in 1869, when it was known as the Ladies' Aid Association. From that time until poor health compelled her to resign, her devotion and zeal have been unflagging. Especially did she devote time and energy to the arranging, planning, and cutting out of the very large amount of work already referred to in this Report. The loss is an irreparable one and these few words do not even attempt to express how much her absence is felt by each member of the Board.

Before closing this Report the Managers would like not only to thank all those friends whose generosity has made the Convalescent Home a possibility, but would urge them to visit the Institution at Wellesley Hills and see for themselves the work that is being done there. Visitors are always welcome and it is hoped that they will be rewarded for any trouble they may have taken by the sight of the clean, happy children in their large sunny playroom or shady pavilion, according to the season of the year.

THE CONVALESCENT HOME.

Extract from the By-Laws.—The name of this Corporation shall be "The Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital." Its objects are to aid in the carrying on of The Children's Hospital in Boston, as well as to carry on and manage the Children's Convalescent Home at Wellesley Hills, and to care for, relieve, and nurse such children—patients from that Hospital—as may be sent to this Home.

REGULATIONS CONCERNING PATIENTS.

PATIENTS between the ages of two and twelve, suffering from acute diseases, medical or surgical, are received at the Hospital. No patient is admitted whose case is considered chronic or incurable, unless there be urgent symptoms which, in the opinion of the medical staff, are capable of being relieved; nor will any one be admitted having an infectious or contagious disease.

Application for the admission of patients may be made at the Hospital at 9 A.M. on any day of the week except Sunday. Recent cases of accident will be received at any hour.

The beds in the Hospital are free to those who are really poor; but a moderate charge will be made to such as are able to pay. Patients from beyond the limits of the city will be received on payment of not less than seven dollars per week.

Relatives may be admitted to see patients on Sunday, from 11 to 12. No patient shall receive more than one visitor at a time; and in all cases the lady in charge may exercise her discretion as to admitting or excluding visitors.

OF

THE BOARD OF MANAGERS.

IN presenting their fortieth annual report the Managers feel it incumbent upon them to direct attention to the fact that the Hospital is entering upon a new era of its existence, the outcome of the faithful and progressive work of the past forty years.

In this period the Hospital has more than quadrupled the volume of its service to the public, and has come to be recognized, both in this country and abroad, as the foremost institution of its kind.

The reports received from its various departments, some of which are here appended, show the extent and indicate the value of the work being done, and suggest the possibilities of future useful expansion, but make only moderate mention of the difficulties incident to the achievement of such efficiency when the work is done in a building long since outgrown and in which it has become necessary not only to duplicate the uses of many of the rooms, but to permit an overcrowding only measurably justified by the demand for service made upon the Hospital.

The increase in the work done by The Children's Hospital is the result, first, of an actual growth in the public need; second, of the improvement in remedial measures, and third, of the continued and self-sacrificing devotion of members of the medical profession, constituting its Staff, who have made such advances in the study of the diseases of children and in their treatment, along their special lines, as to have given the work of this Hospital its enviable reputation.

In behalf, therefore, of the public need, and in recognition of the service rendered, it is imperative that the conditions under which the work is done should be changed; that a new and commodious Hospital and Out Patient Department should be built, and that it should be sufficiently endowed.

The Managers therefore bespeak, on the part of those who have the welfare of children at heart, a careful reading of the statements made in this Report, an inspection of the existing conditions, and such contributions as shall make the new era of The Boston Children's Hospital one of increasing usefulness.

We beg to acknowledge gratefully the receipt of the following bequests: from estate of Caroline E. Whitcomb, $1000; estate of Abbie J. Stearns, $1730; estate of James F. Redington, $900; estate of Louisa G. Perkins, $2003.41; estate of Caroline L. Bayley,

REPORTS FROM DEPARTMENTS.

IN presenting the report of the Medical Staff for the year 1908 the attempt has been made to call attention to what The Children's Hospital is accomplishing by a presentation of the matter in a descriptive form and not wholly in the more usual method by statistics of cases treated and operations performed. In order to make what follows more intelligible, a few words are required to explain the subdivision of the medical and surgical work of the Hospital.

To the wards are admitted medical, surgical and orthopedic cases, each of the three classes being cared for by a separate service, there being always in charge of the services one physician, one general surgeon, and one orthopedic surgeon. When the children are convalescent they are discharged from the wards either to the Convalescent Home at Wellesley or to their homes, to be brought for further treatment to the Out Patient Department.

The Convalescent Home is a modern building well adapted to its purpose, containing seventy beds, and is in charge of its own Corporation. Here the children have the advantage of out-door treatment and are still under the supervision of the Hospital Staff. When they leave the Convalescent Home they are as a rule discharged to the Out Patient Department of the Hospital.

The Out Patient Department of the Hospital is naturally the part caring for the largest number of patients. These patients live at home and are brought by their parents on certain days for treatment. The majority of the children do not require either admission to the wards or operation, and are cared for as out patients until they are discharged. An idea of the work of the Hospital in this department is shown by the figures for 1908, when 27,197 visits were made to the Out Patient Department, an average attendance on clinic days of 130 patients.

The cases were distributed as follows.

	New cases	Old cases	Total
Orthopedic Surgery (including lateral curvature of the spine)	962	9955	10917
Medical Cases	3122	4269	7391
General Surgery	1257	2873	4130
Nervous Diseases	343	2379	2722
Diseases of the Throat	1199	838	2037
	6883	20314	27197

These subdivisions of the Out Patient Department are each administered separately but, owing to the lack of room in the present Out Patient building, it is necessary to use the same rooms for different departments at different hours; this of course increases the difficulty of administration and is undesirable from the point of view of the patients.

These various subdivisions of the Out Patient Department work together, supplementing each other in the transfer of patients from one to another division, in the use of the Hospital wards, of the Convalescent Home, of the Dispensary, of the X Ray Department, and the other available Hospital facilities.

In addition to these departments appearing in the report the Out Patient Department is equipped with a modern X Ray outfit which is in constant demand and of great use practically in diagnosis and the direction of treatment.

A surgical workshop situated in the basement of the Out Patient building supplies splints and braces at cost and employs seven men. There is a Dispensary where such medicines as are needed are furnished to patients at cost.

The nursing in the Hospital is done by the pupils of the School of Nursing, who live in four houses on Gainsborough Street and who work under the supervision of the Superintendent of the School and her assistants. The high standard of this School has been maintained through a period when certain similar institutions have been obliged to lower theirs, and the standing of the School in the community is surpassed by none; ample evidence of this is offered by the fact that graduates are in great demand and are rarely idle.

A department of Out Door Relief exists for the purpose of providing nursing and supervision at their homes for those patients who cannot be brought to the Out Patient Department on account of their disability, for the care of exceptionally chronic cases, and for the occasional care of cases discharged from the Hospital or Convalescent Home who cannot attend the Out Patient Department. It is hoped in the near future to increase the scope and efficiency of this department, which should be one of the most active parts of the Hospital work.

In every department of the Hospital, except in the Convalescent Home, which is adequate, the work is done in quarters which have long been outgrown and which have become hopelessly inadequate.

The operating facilities of the main hospital are wholly insufficient to meet present demands and the large number of operations are performed under many difficulties. The present number of beds is quite insufficient to accommodate those applicants in need of care and there are, at most times, a large number of urgent cases waiting, many of which suffer by delay. So large is the demand upon the Hospital for the work that it is capable of doing that the Out Patient Department is crowded beyond bounds, patients are placed in undesirably close contact with each other while in attendance, and there is not possible that privacy for each patient which is especially desirable with sick children, who should not be allowed in a properly equipped institution to see others examined and treated. The need of a new Hospital cannot be too strongly urged; not for the sake of those who serve there, but in behalf of the children who are treated there. The record of accomplishment in the past, and the promise of greater usefulness in the future, under improved conditions, justifies the managers in their hope that the community will contribute to an institution that ministers efficiently to the needs of sick children and is an agent in promoting the knowledge of the diseases of children and their treatment.

MEDICAL DEPARTMENT.

THIS Department has to do with medical cases in both the Out Patient Department and in the wards of the Hospital, and participates in the Out Door Relief and in the use of the Convalescent Home.

The ward cases include a variety of diseases, such as typhoid fever, cerebro-spinal-meningitis, chronic cardiac cases, and acute pneumonia, for which modern medical methods demand special treatment, provision for which can only be inadequately made in the present quarters; different environments and different temperatures are as requisite, in many cases, as are differences in medication and in diet.

By the provision of a glass partition in the medical ward, and by the utilization of one of the smaller rooms for pneumonia patients, the requirements as to differentiation have been partially met, and the results attained illustrate what may still further be achieved in a larger space, properly divided and equipped.

Emergency cases, to which the Hospital should always be open, are accepted and provided for in the Medical Department at the expense often of objectional crowding, and provision for these cases should be adequately made in a new Hospital.

THE ROENTGEN RAY DEPARTMENT.

The Roentgen Ray Department has been entirely reorganized, and in the coming year all the officers connected with the Hospital will be able to obtain readily any of the plates which were taken even some years ago. The importance of this department is increasing every day, and through its means a great advance has been made in precision of diagnosis and in the subsequent improvement in the treatment.

PATHOLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

The Pathological Department has been entirely reorganized and is likely to prove of the utmost service not only to the physicians and surgeons connected with the Hospital, but also in the teaching of Clinical Pathology. A number of the graduates have already taken advantage of this new system, which allows the Clinical Pathologist to give them from one to two hours in the middle of the day. In this way there is carried on the pathological research work and practical exposition of both the medical and surgical cases in connection. This arrangement is a decided step in advance of what has ever been done in the Hospital before, and it is especially advantageous to the surgeons, who can now at any time have an immediate report following their operations.

GENERAL SURGICAL SERVICE.

FIVE years ago the General Surgical Service was established by setting apart one-third of the beds in the Surgical wards and two small rooms in the Out Patient Department for the treatment of the surgical as distinguished from the orthopedic cases.

During the year 1908, 537 children were admitted to the wards on this service. Of these 267 were boys and 270 were girls. Twelve hundred fifty-seven children were treated as out patients. The total number of visits made in the Out Patient Department was 4,130. Three hundred eighty-eight operations were performed in the Hospital, besides the many minor operations performed in the Out Patient Department.

Among the children admitted who did not have to submit to operation many had fractures requiring hospital treatment; some had been injured by accidents; a few were sent in for observation.

It has been possible to treat the large number of cases in the few beds at the service of the department only by very prompt transfer of the patients after operation to the Convalescent Home in Wellesley. The recovery of the patients is as a rule hastened by the good conditions which surround them there. The service done the Hospital by the Convalescent Home is invaluable.

Unfortunately the overcrowding of the Out Patient Department cannot be overcome in this way. On four afternoons every week, on an average, over twenty patients daily are treated in two small rooms. At the same time in the same room minor operations must be performed. The conditions of overcrowding are not bettered by the fact that each patient is necessarily accompanied by at least one, and often by two or three adults, and frequently by other children.

Most of the patients admitted to the Hospital are examined previously in the Out Patient Department, and many, after discharge from the Hospital wards, are treated for a time in the Out Patient Department until recovery is complete. Most of the cases seen in the Out Patient Department, however, never need to be admitted to the Hospital, and many fractures of the upper extremities and many minor wounds and infections are there treated.

Grateful acknowledgment should be made to the Department of Physics of Harvard University for their courtesy in supplying liquid air, to be used in the treatment of birth marks.

In The Children's Hospital are seen and treated many diseases and malformations seldom seen in the larger general hospitals, where the chief interest lies in the care of adults, and the service of the Hospital to the community is thus unusual. Special advantages in treatment are offered to the patients and special advantages are offered to medical students and to physicians in practice to see and study the surgical diseases of children. In this way the field of usefulness of the Hospital is constantly growing broader.

The frequent inability of the Superintendent to admit patients in emergencies on account of the overcrowded conditions, and the frequent long delays in securing the admission of ordinary cases, limits the usefulness of the Hospital and emphasizes the importance of the provision of new and enlarged accommodations.

ORTHOPEDIC DEPARTMENT.

THE work of the Department of Orthopedic Surgery has continued to be highly satisfactory, not only in the results obtained, but also in the continued improvements in the efficiency of methods of treatment employed. The advance in the development of this specialty has, in the last thirty years, been one of the notable achievements in modern surgery, and in this development the work of The Children's Hospital may be regarded as a not unimportant influence. To-day the institution is regarded as one of the prominent hospitals of the country for the cure of joint affections, bone tuberculosis, and deformities of childhood. It has gained an international reputation and is frequently visited by physicians from other parts of the country and from abroad. The affections which a generation ago were regarded as incurable are to-day successfully treated, and it may be confidently stated that the methods employed at The Children's Hospital will bear comparison with those in any institution of the kind in the world.

The statistic results of the treatment of hip disease at the Hospital in the past thirty years have been recently examined with care, and in comparison with those reported at other institutions, the efficiency of the methods used is made evident. An investigation has also recently been made of a large number of cases of the distressing deformity of wry neck treated at the Hospital in the last twenty years; in this deformity also remarkably satisfactory statistics of cures have been obtained. It is gratifying to report after investigations continued for over twenty years that the results now obtained in the treatment of congenital dislocation of the hip are most successful. When it is remembered that twenty years ago this deformity, to which much public attention was directed some six years ago, was considered an absolutely incurable one, there is much satisfaction in reporting that at present a cure can be accomplished in the great majority of cases in the children brought to The Hospital for treatment.

By means of the Convalescent Home at Wellesley, fresh air can be given with thoroughness and care, with the greatest advantage to city children. This, with an efficient out-door relief service and the special surgical care given at the Hospital, gives a much greater probability of cure in bone tuberculosis than was formerly the case in our community. It may be said that even among the poorest children suffering from the various forms of tuberculosis of bone, favorable prospects can be offered to those who receive treatment at The Children's Hospital.

Much attention has been paid at the Hospital to the treatment of paralytic deformities. With improved recent methods great benefit is furnished in the restoration of functional activity to paralyzed limbs by means of muscle and tendon grafting, and by thorough attention to a careful after-treatment made possible in the Out Patient Department. A most efficient system of treatment by appliances has long been in practice at the Hospital.

In the Out Patient Department one important advance has been made in securing a more regular attendance of patients, in a better subdivision of the surgical work among those in charge, and in perfecting our organization so that the patients are attended to more promptly and are able to get home earlier. The orthopedic patients require careful individual attention from the surgeon, a matter which frequently takes considerable time. There are many patients to be seen, many of whom come from a long distance and are anxious to get early trains home, and the attendance of the average patient will probably be required for months or years, so that the question of efficient out-patient administration is much more important in our cases than in out-patient work in general, and the attendance of the clinic is directly effected by the promptness with which the patients are cared for.

The Out Door Relief Department of the Hospital provides the services of a nurse to patients unable to attend the clinic, to those who have recently been discharged from the wards or Convalescent Home, and exercises a certain supervision of delinquent patients who should come to the clinic regularly, but who fail to appear. It is hoped in the near future to extend the efficiency and scope of the Out Door Relief Department; for no class of hospital patients in a community requires more supervision as to their home surroundings than children with orthopedic affections.

As against 6,201 visits from old and new orthopedic cases made in 1905, in 1908 there were 6,797 such visits; adding the visits of the patients coming to the lateral curvature clinic, which is in charge of the Orthopedic Department, in 1908 there were 10,917 out-patient visits.

Facilities for the treatment of spinal curvature form a part of the Orthopedic Out Patient Department, but the work is much hampered by a lack of room and facilities in the treatment of these cases. Such cases require as a rule continuous treatment for a period of months, and there is always a large waiting list of children to take under treatment. The policy has been to admit no more cases to the department than could be properly treated. The attendance at the clinic in 1908 was composed of 115 new cases, not all of whom were taken under treatment, and 4,005 visits from patients under treatment. The clinic for lateral curvature is held on Monday, Tuesday, and Wednesday afternoons, and Saturday mornings.

The clinic is administered by one of the assistant surgeons of the Orthopedic Department, and the gymnastic exercises are given by students of the Boston Normal School of Gymnastics, who are assigned to attendance at the clinic as part of their school curriculum. In return for this work they receive weekly instruction.

The work in the Orthopedic Department requires careful attention to details, and this has been made possible by the enthusiasm, not only of the surgical staff, but also of the assisting surgeons. The surgical value of this is made evident by the number of contributions to the literature of this branch of surgery which have been made by the surgeons who have been in charge and on service at the Hospital and by their assistants.

The promptness of the work is much hindered by its limited accommodations. It is of the first importance in a children's hospital that suffering children should, as far as possible, be protected from fright and the nervous distress attendant on surgical examination and treatment. On account of the crowded condition of the waiting, recovery, and examination rooms, it is impossible to pay as much attention to the sensibilities of mothers and children as is to be desired.

SURGICAL APPLIANCE SHOP.

Much attention is paid to the furnishing to the poor patients of apparatus at a low cost. This has been made possible by the establishment, now placed under the efficient direction of a member of the Board of Managers, of a shop for the manufacture and sale of such appliances as are needed. This is not only of advantage to the patients, but there have been opportunities for the improvement and simplifying of mechanical appliances needed in the treatment of deformities. This part of the work has been so successful that many of The Children's Hospital appliances are furnished to other institutions, and are in general use elsewhere. The shop is self-supporting.

THROAT DEPARTMENT.

DURING the past year over 2500 new and old patients have been treated in the Throat Department. Ten years ago the total number treated, as shown in the Hospital Report for the year ending December 28, 1898, was 602. The clinic has therefore grown over 400 per cent in ten years. As heretofore, the larger part of our work has to do with hypertrophied or diseased tonsils and adenoids, and disorders arising from them. A larger percentage of these patients are operated upon now than formerly. This means that not only is our work increased in respect to the number of patients seen, but also in the amount of work done for the average patient. In order to meet this increased demand from patients the staff has been increased by the addition of two assistants.

The department is at present well equipped with modern instruments and apparatus for doing its work efficiently. We are thus prepared in every way to meet the increasing demands upon us, excepting in the matter of rooms for the reception, examination, and treatment of patients. In this respect we are behind the times and are distinctly hampered. It will be impossible for our work to grow in the future as it has in the past unless we have larger and better equipped quarters.

The statistics of the department for the year ending December 31, 1908, are as follows:—

New patients	1199
Old patients	1357
Total	2556
Operations	519

NEUROLOGICAL DEPARTMENT.

THE Neurological Department has continued its work steadily during the past two years. As time goes on it is even more crowded for room than before, and both physicians and patients are put to more trouble and inconvenience.

The massage division of this department has now become very important, and this form of treatment (massage and passive movements) has largely taken the place of the application of electricity. By this means it has been possible to produce practical cures in many cases which years ago would have been considered absolutely beyond relief; but one case out of the many will serve to illustrate the results attained. A baby a few months old was brought to the Hospital with total paralysis of both hands. Some years ago nothing could have been done for such a case and the child would have grown perfectly helpless and probably remained so all its life. By means of the most patient care and work this patient has, after eighteen months of continuous treatment, been brought to a condition in which it can use its hands and can, in the future, live the life of the ordinary boy, and when grown will be able to work like others.

This Neurological Department is the only one of its kind in New England, and almost the only one in the United States wholly devoted to children. Nowhere have massage and passive movements been applied so thoroughly in so large a number of cases of children as here.

Hospital with total paralysis of both hands and feet. Years ago nothing could have been done for such a case. The child is now a grown perfectly helpless and profane person. The hospital has given months of continuous treatment, which it can use its hands and feet. The child is now an ordinary boy, and when he grows up he will be a man.

This Neurological Hospital, New England, and a devoted to children's diseases. The hospital has been applied to the treatment of children as he grows up.

In making a comparative statistical report of the School of Nursing for the last five years, it will be seen that by persevering in higher education, increasing fees, and broadening the lines of work, by adding obstetrical training, we have had more applicants and also a higher grade of women apply and enter the School. In the last year not only has there been better work done, but third-year nurses have been able to take greater responsibility and have more executive work. One of our senior nurses took charge of the Operating Room for three months, and one was trained by Dr. Freeman Allen for three months in anæsthesia and is now the resident anæsthetist and instructress in this branch. The course at the Boston Lying-In Hospital has been so valuable that we are now sending four pupils a year instead of two. We still continue to keep two pupils at the Corey Hill Hospital.

The rest of the curriculum is the same as that of last year, except that the contagious ward has been enlarged and remodelled, and gives additional experience to some of our pupils in contagious nursing.

Respectfully submitted,

SISTER AMY,

Superintendent of Nurses.

OF
THE CHILDREN'S HOSPITAL,
WELLESLEY HILLS.

THE Managers of the Convalescent Home of The Children's Hospital submit to the public their Twenty-fourth Annual Report.

The Convalescent Home this year marks its third anniversary in the new building which replaces the one destroyed by fire on the 20th of January, 1903.

The number of patients treated during the year was 671, with a daily average of 56. The number of those treated in 1907 was 739, with a daily average of 51.

Occasional contagious diseases have been the only interruption to the smooth running of the work, and twice during an epidemic of measles it was thought best to send all the patients away and to close the doors of the Home while a thorough disinfecting took place. It is hoped that this unfortunate necessity may be obviated in the future, as the Trustees of The Children's Hospital have enlarged their contagious department and as soon as any case of infection appears at the Home, the patient is despatched to the Hospital to be cared for. The Managers of the Convalescent Home also hope and intend eventually to make better arrangements for the accommodation of suspected infectious cases than they at present possess.

The beds at the Home are equally divided between the surgical and medical convalescents, and it has been decided to keep ten beds empty as a rule in order to be always ready for emergencies.

The shack system, so highly commended by the doctors, is maintained, but in cold weather it is difficult to heat the rooms into which direct fresh air is continuously introduced day and night, and the expense for fuel consequently is very great, necessitating the consumption of a ton of coal per day. This heavy expense, together with the inevitable repairs and the large staff of servants required to run so important an institution, makes it impossible to keep the expenses within the limits of the income, and the Managers will be regretfully obliged to issue their usual appeal for help to carry on the work.

The kindergarten lessons continue to play a very important part in the care of the children, and Miss Bostwick has proved herself a most efficient and devoted teacher. On the occasions of the Christmas tree, which the Managers give every year to the children at the Hospital as well as at the Home, each lady is the grateful recipient of an attractive little present made by the patients with the help of their kindergarten teacher, and the carols sung by them make one of the most enjoyable features of the day.

The patients are sent to the Home once a week in a special electric car which carries them to Wellesley Hills, under the care of a trained nurse and house surgeon. There they are met by the man employed at the Home, who skillfully stows them away in the depths of a large ambulance, and thus they reach their destination in ease and safety.

A nominal charge is made for board and care at the Home, but if the parent or guardian be unable to pay, no difference is made in the conscientious care bestowed upon the child.

The Hospital and Home are under the supervision of the Sisters of St. Margaret, of whose devotion and intelligent management it is a pleasure to speak with the greatest appreciation and gratitude.

Miss Davidson is still the head nurse as well as housekeeper at the Home, and under her careful direction and with the aid of efficient nurses and helpers all the work runs smoothly and well.

The Managers with a corps of volunteer helpers meet at the Hospital once a week during the winter to cut out all the bed and table linen, towels and bandages, surgeons' jackets and aprons, and clothing for the children both in Hospital and Home. This work is given out later to poor women to be finished.

A Permanent Fund was started a year ago, and additions to this fund, an increase of Annual Subscribers, or gifts of money, no matter how small, are urgently solicited. Visitors are always welcome at the Home, where the appealing sight of so many little children on whom the burden of pain has weighed heavily is the strongest argument in favor of trying to improve their condition and in many cases restoring them to health and strength.

MARY B. HUNNEWELL,
Secretary.
